United States Code United States, 2018 The Dark Social Capital of Religious Radicals Johannes Saal, 2021-05-04 With the departure of European Muslims to the Islamic State and a wave of terrorist attacks in Europe in recent years the questions of why and how individuals radicalize to Jihadi extremism attracted keen interest This thesis examines how individuals radicalize by applying a theoretical framework that primarily refers to social capital theory the economics of religion and social movement theory The analysis of the biographical backgrounds pathways of radicalization and network connections of more than 1 300 Jihadi extremists from Germany Austria and Switzerland shows that radicalization primarily need to be considered as a social process of isolation from former social contacts and affiliation with a new religious group. Radicalization is characterized by the transformation of social capital and often channeled through so-called strong ties to friends and family members. These peer networks constitute the social fundament of radical clusters on the local level which are usually linked to a broader milieu through exclusive mosque communities and religious authorities. Bonding social capital within these radical groups minimizes the risk of betrayal and promotes trust essential for clandestine and risky activities.

Humanitarian and Military Intervention in Libya and Syria Aran M. Lewis, 2022-12-30. This book explores the contradictions in Britain's humanitarian and military intervention in Libya and Syria beginning with the Arab spring in 2010. The book assesses the contradictions between the expressed humanitarian intentions of British military interveners and the impact of their actions on the putative beneficiary states. It demonstrates that as a result of foreign intervention both Libya and Syria were rendered non-functional as unitary nations and suffered extensive harm to their people and infrastructure. To evaluate the effectiveness and credibility of humanitarian warfare, the author conducts a thematic analysis of debates on Libya and Syria in the House of Commons. The book provides a detailed study of intentions and motives expressed by Members of Parliament of consequent British state actions and their outcomes and of MPs' reactions to outcomes. It provides ample evidence of duplicity, insincerity, indifference to harm, and ulterior motives for violence that undermine moral claims and support the argument that although humanitarian warfare may be possible, the leading Western activist states, Britain, France, and the USA, are poorly qualified to carry it out. Illustrating a systemic failure of strategy and accountability in British foreign policy, this book will be of interest to scholars and graduates of Humanitarian Studies, International Relations, and Military Studies.
