6n2 loom

The 6n loom has 8 wires for the Hazard switch, whereas the 6n2 has 7 wires, this is because the 6n2 switch has a built in relay, while the 6n relay is external. If you were to swap like for like and left the white/yellow, your hazards would work, but no indicators. To solve this, wire the white/yellow into the red/yellow and you will have both indicators and hazards working
