Quiz instructions

Please read the Anagene case (provided in the accompanying lecture accompanying quiz). There is no time limit for this quiz, but you are only allowed to complete it once. This quiz will be primarily a reflection of how well I encourage you to think carefully about the questions, and will benefit your learning of the material and your preparation for the in-classroom discussion.

Question 1

1 point

Many do you think the profit margin for Anagene's cartridges has been fluctuating? Is likely attributable to the actual number of cartridges sold at this cartridge-changing, or because of the existing system they are using to calculate the cost?

The actual number of cartridges sold at this cartridge-changing has changed. The company revised the estimated number of cartridges produced and revised the calculation of the costs per unit. This led to the estimated cartridge unit cost change. Finally, company revised the cartridge unit cost calculation based on the actual production data.

Anagene Case Solution:

Saunders Solutions in Veterinary Practice: Small Animal Dermatology Anita Patel, Peter J. Forsythe, 2008-06-11 This title is directed primarily towards health care professionals outside of the United States For most dermatological conditions several treatment and or management options are available making the situation even more complicated Small Animal Dermatology is a handy reference for these cases and encourages the practitioner to pursue a definitive diagnosis and plan effective management even if the condition can not be cured Unique new case based approach relating essential theory to clinical practice Modern highly designed and illustrated so key information can be seen at a glance Self testing MCQs and remediation means these books are ideally suited for CPD or as an exam revision aid Essential for all general small animal veterinary practitioners and students

Exhaustive analysis of scalp hair regression: subjective and objective perception from initial hair loss to severe miniaturisation and drug-induced regrowth

Dominique Van Neste, 2021-03-18 Aim The reason why non calibrated hair variables poorly estimate scalp hair coverage during hair growth studies was studied Methods Hair productivity integrates density diameter and daily hair growth rate Cross sectional studies have established hair productivity in female and male patients 480 vs 90 controls with self evaluation of hair loss phototrichogram CE PTG EC and scalp coverage scoring SCS Tracking productivity of individual hair follicular units from longitudinal studies challenged the application of our methods during drug trials Results Hair loss means decreased productivity and increased time to complete coverage The hair mass index HMI linearly connects productivity with clinical perception of coverage i e SCS The ensuing HMI abacus translates independently of gender age pattern or severity and unravelled unequal intervals between categories of the Ludwig and Hamilton classifications With one severity grade shift time to complete coverage varied from 21 51 days i e no equality During longitudinal studies SCS detected improved productivity reflecting clinically relevant responses but remained stable in the absence of significant productivity variations Follicular unit labelling and individual hair growth tracing showed that reversal of miniaturised hair follicles does not play a major role during drug induced hair regrowth The latter reflects re activation of resting dormant terminal hair follicles The recovered productivity would not be possible once hair follicles enter the phase of structural functional irreversible miniaturisation Conclusion Besides pattern identification density of nanohair and HMI appear as innovative diagnostic approaches Abrupt transformation within one cycle of terminal hair follicles into miniaturised ones and its reversal as the effect of active FDA approved drugs remain highly improbable
