Embargoed Science Vincent Kiernan,2023-12-11 The popular notion of a lone scientist privately toiling long hours in a laboratory striking upon a great discovery and announcing it to the world is a romanticized fiction Vincent Kiernan's Embargoed Science reveals the true process behind science news an elite few scholarly journals control press coverage through a mechanism known as an embargo The journals distribute advance copies of their articles to hundreds and sometimes thousands of journalists around the world on the condition that journalists agree not to report their stories until a common time several days later When the embargo lifts airwaves and newspaper pages are flooded with stories based on the journal's latest issue In addition to divulging the realities behind this collusive practice Kiernan offers an unprecedented exploration of the embargo's impact on public and academic knowledge of science and medical issues He surveys twenty five daily U S newspapers and relates his in depth interviews with reporters to examine the inner workings of the embargo and how it structures our understanding of news about science Kiernan ultimately argues that this system fosters pack journalism and creates an unhealthy shield against journalistic competition The result is the uncritical reporting of science and medical news according to the dictates of a few key sources Environmental Success Stories Frank Dunnivant,2017-03-21 Unlike many titles on environmental issues that portend a dark future Environmental Success Stories delves into the most daunting ecological and environmental challenges humankind has faced and shows how scientists citizens and a responsive public sector have dealt with them successfully In addition to presenting the basic chemical and environmental science underlying problems like providing clean drinking water removing DDT and lead from agriculture and our homes and curtailing industrial pollution this book also discusses the political actors agency regulators and community leaders who have collaborated to enact effective legislation Sharing the stories of the people organizations and governments who have addressed these problems successfully Frank M Dunnivant explains how we might confront the world's largest and most complex environmental crisis climate change Now is the time for rededicated scientific exploration and enlightened citizen action to save our environment and Dunnivant's book offers a stirring call to action Earth Science: Weather, water, and the atmosphere James A.
