

A group of 78 third-grade students in a midwestern elementary school took a "self-concept" test that measured how well they felt about themselves. Higher scores indicate more positive self-concepts. A histogram and some summary statistics from Minitab for these students' self-concept scores are given below.

Descriptive Statistics: SelfConcept

Variable	N	Mean	Median	TrMean	StDev	SE Mean
SelfConcept	78	56.96	59.50	57.81	12.41	1.41
Variable	Minimum	Maximum	Q1	Q3
SelfConcept	20.00	80.00	51.00	66.25

1. Draw an appropriate density curve for summarizing the histogram on the graph above. How would you describe the shape of this density curve?

skewed left

2. One student in the group had a self-concept score of 62. Thirty-four students had self-concept scores higher than 62. Describe the location of this value within the distribution using raw data, percentiles, and standardized values (z-scores).

score of 62 : $\frac{44}{78} = 56.4\%$ percentile

$z = \frac{62 - 56.96}{12.41} \approx 0.41 \rightarrow$ about 0.41 standard deviations above the mean

3. What is a "typical" self-concept score for a third-grader in this group? Justify your answer.

59.5 $\rightarrow$ use the median in a skewed distribution to measure the center because it is more resistant to extreme observations

readership including advanced undergraduate students and graduate students in statistics graduate students in biology anthropology life sciences and other areas and postgraduate students The style of this book reflects my belief that the common distinction between multivariate statistical theory and multivariate methods is artificial and should be abandoned I hope that readers who are mostly interested in practical applications will find the theory accessible and interesting Similarly I hope to show to more mathematically interested students that multivariate statistical modelling is much more than applying formulas to data sets The text covers mostly parametric models but gives brief introductions to computer intensive methods such as the bootstrap and randomization tests as well The selection of material reflects my own preferences and views My principle in writing this text has been to restrict the presentation to relatively few topics but cover these in detail This should allow the student to study an area deeply enough to feel comfortable with it and to start reading more advanced books or articles on the same topic
