Period 1 AP Contact and Exploration, 1491 -1607

Name:

Date/Period

Multiple Choice Questions: Directions: Choose the best answer choice for the following questions.

Questions 1 - 2 refer to the following passage.

The period from Columbus's first landfall in 1492 to 1607, when the English made their settlement at Jamestown, has traditionally been a blank spot in American history books. Some texts state quite plainly that the history of the United States begins in 1607, making only the most cursory mention of the sixteenth century—the century when, in the words of the historian Bernard Bailyn, Spain created "the largest and most populous empire the western world had seen since the fall of Rome."

The historian Howard Mumford Jones also compared Spain's sixteenth-century achievements to those of antiquity: "The Spaniards invented a system of colonial administration unparalleled since the days of ancient Rome; in religion they launched the most sweeping missionary movement since the Germanic tribes accepted Christianity.... As for culture, the Spaniards transplanted dynamic forms of Renaissance art, thought, and institutions to the Americas with amazing quickness." The Spanish established a college for the sons of Indian chiefs, in Mexico in 1536.... Spaniards set up the first printing press in the New World in 1539, and, as Jones observed, "When in 1585 a forlorn little band of Englishmen were trying to stick it out on Roanoke Island, three hundred poets were competing for a prize in Mexico City."

—From Henry Wiencek, "The Spain Among Us."
