Name _____ Date _____

Organic molecules are the molecules which exist in all living things. They are life's building blocks. All things are formed from these organic molecules. There are four categories of organic molecules: Carbohydrates, lipids, proteins and nucleic acids.

1. How are organic molecules related to all living things?
2. Name four categories of organic molecules which form the basis of all living things.

Organic molecules have four common characteristics. First, they are all carbon based, meaning they all contain carbon. They are formed from just a few elements which join together to form small molecules which join together, or bond, to form large molecules. The third characteristic of all organic molecules is that each is kind of organic molecule is built from a single type of building block. For example, the building block of carbohydrates is sugar, the building block of lipids is fatty acids, the building block of protein is amino acids and the building block of nucleic acids is the nucleotide. When these building blocks are joined together, they form a large molecule (polymer), just as bricks joined together form a wall. For example, sugars join together form a carbohydrate.

3. All of the organic molecules are based on which element?
4. Many times, the molecules join to form long chains with what kind of backbone?
5. How are the building blocks of organic molecules like bricks?
6. What is the building block of each of the four classes of organic molecules?
7. What is a polymer?

The last common characteristic of all organic molecules is that their form determines their function. That means that their shape determines how they will behave and how they will react with other molecules. For example, the order of amino acids in a protein will determine the shape and function of the protein just as the order of words in a sentence shapes the meaning of the sentence.

8. What determines how organic molecules will look and behave?
9. What are the four common characteristics of all organic molecules?

Carbohydrates

Carbohydrates are the most common organic molecule because they make up most plant matter. They are made from carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. Their building block a single sugar called a monosaccharide. Sugars (monosaccharides) consist of carbon rings. When two monosaccharides, or sugars, combine, they form a disaccharide (di = two). When more than two monosaccharides join

Critical Care Study Guide Gerard J. Criner, Rodger E. Barnette, Gilbert E. D'Alonzo, 2010-06-27 Critical care medicine is a dynamic and exciting arena where complex pathophysiologic states require extensive knowledge and up to date clinical information. An extensive knowledge of basic pathophysiology as well as awareness of the appropriate diagnostic tests and treatments that are used to optimize care in the critically ill is essential. Since our first edition 7 years ago new information crucial to the care and understanding of the critically ill patient has rapidly accumulated. Because this knowledge base crosses many different disciplines a comprehensive multidisciplinary approach presenting the information is essential similar to the multidisciplinary approach that is used to care for the critically ill patient. We have strived to provide this content in an easily digestible format that uses a variety of teaching tools to facilitate understanding of the presented concepts and to enhance information retention. To meet the demand to provide comprehensive and diverse education in order to understand the pathogenesis and optimum care of a variety of critical illnesses we have substantially revised the prior topics in the first edition with updated information. We have also markedly expanded the number of topics covered to include acute lung injury and the acute respiratory distress syndrome an expanded discussion of the physiology and operation of mechanical ventilation obstetrical care in the ICU neurosurgical emergencies acute coronary syndromes cardiac arrhythmias role of whole body rehabilitation in the ICU ethical conduct of human research in the ICU and nursing care of the ICU patient. Raymond, 2005-10-07 Finally readers have a shorter less intimidating introduction to general organic and biological chemistry. Not only is Raymond's text concise it also takes an integrated approach to presenting important topics in a way that makes the material easier to understand. In this approach similarities can be exploited and concepts reinforced. The result is that readers see the strong connections that exist between these three branches of chemistry. EJB Reviews 1990 P. Christen, E. Hofmann, 2012-12-06 In the mid 1980s the European Journal of Biochemistry set out to publish review articles. The enterprise proved successful resulting in high level reviews written by well known scientists appearing in the Journal. The reviews represent emerging and rapidly growing fields of research in fundamental as well as applied areas of biochemistry such as medicine biotechnology agriculture and nutrition. Novel methodological and technological approaches which stimulate biochemical research are also included. The authors of the reviews are explicitly asked to be critical selective evaluative and interdisciplinarily oriented. The reviews should encourage young scientists toward independent and creative

Approaches to the recovery of three dimensional information on a biological object which are often formulated or implemented initially in an intuitive way are concisely described here based on physical models of the object and the image formation process Both three dimensional electron microscopy and X ray tomography can be captured in the same mathematical framework leading to closely related computational approaches but the methodologies differ in detail and hence pose different challenges The editors of this volume Gabor T Herman and Joachim Frank are experts in the respective methodologies and present research at the forefront of biological imaging and structural biology Computational Methods for Three Dimensional Microscopy Reconstruction will serve as a useful resource for scholars interested in the development of computational methods for structural biology and cell biology particularly in the area of 3D imaging and modeling      Mass Spectrometry Reviews , 1991      Study Guide [to] Microbiology, Principles & Applications, Third Edition [by] Jacquelyn G.
