Amazing Arts 49 Max Bill 2 Volume 49:

The Global Work of Art Caroline A. Jones, 2017-06-01 Global biennials have proliferated in the contemporary art world but artists' engagement with large scale international exhibitions has a much longer history that has influenced the present in important ways. Going back to the earliest world's fairs in the nineteenth century, this book argues that globalism was incubated in a century of international art contests and today constitutes an important tactic for artists. As world's fairs brought millions of attendees into contact with foreign cultures, products and processes, artworks became juxtaposed in a theater of nations which challenged artists and critics to think outside their local academies. From Gustave Courbet's rebel pavilion near the official art exhibit at the 1855 French World's Fair to curator Beryl Madra's choice of London-based Cypriot Hussein Chalayan for the off-site Turkish pavilion at the 2006 Venice Biennale, artists have used these exhibitions to reflect on contemporary art, speak to their own governments back home and challenge the wider geopolitical realm, changing art and art history along the way. Ultimately, Caroline A. Jones argues the modern appetite for experience and event structures which were cultivated around the art at these earlier expositions have now come to constitute contemporary art itself, producing encounters that transform the public and force us to reflect critically on the global condition. Catalog of Copyright

Theories of the Nonobject M—nica Amor, 2016-03-15 Theories of the Nonobject investigates the crisis of the sculptural and painterly object in the concrete, neoconcrete and constructivist practices of artists in

Argentina, Brazil and Venezuela with case studies of specific movements, artists and critics. Amor traces their role in the significant reconceptualization of the artwork that Brazilian critic and poet Ferreira Gullar heralded in Theory of the Nonobject in 1959 with specific attention to a group of major art figures including Lygia Clark, Hélio Oiticica and Gego whose work proposed engaged forms of spectatorship that dismissed medium-based understandings of art. Exploring the philosophical, economic and political underpinnings of geometric abstraction in post-World War II South America, Amor highlights the overlapping inquiries of artists and critics who, working on the periphery of European and US modernism, contributed to a sophisticated conversation about the nature of the art object. When the Machine Made Art Grant D. Taylor, 2014-04-10

Considering how culturally indispensable digital technology is today it is ironic that computer generated art was attacked when it burst onto the scene in the early 1960s In fact no other twentieth century art form has elicited such a negative and hostile response When the Machine Made Art examines the cultural and critical response to computer art or what we refer to today as digital art Tracing the heated debates between art and science the societal anxiety over nascent computer technology and the myths and philosophies surrounding digital computation Taylor is able to identify the destabilizing forces that shape and eventually fragment the computer art movement
