Executive Team Leadership in the Global Economic and Competitive Environment Richard L. Nolan, 2014-12-17 Corporations have continued to grow and extend their operations into the global economy to the point that the modern corporation has become larger and more influential than many sovereign countries. In this global expansion, corporations have extended their operations with little restraint, almost only limited by corporate lawyers' imaginations. Modern corporations have become so pervasive that world populations are more dependent on them for their food services, technologies, work, and daily well-being than ever before. This book analyzes the twenty-first century forces challenging the executive leadership of the modern corporation. Lessons are drawn for corporate leaders facing these challenges: turbulent times, balancing creators and stewards, managing company culture, managing by wire, incorporating global virtual organization structures, and managing sustained innovation. Nolan concludes with guidelines on creating a leadership agenda for transforming the corporation to successfully compete in the realities of the new corporate world of the twenty-first century.

Organizing-for-Innovation Mark Fenwick, Erik P.M. Vermeulen, Toshiyuki Kono, Tronel Joubert, 2022-10-29. This book argues that large corporations need to implement governance practices and processes that make them better innovators and that the challenge is to identify organizational principles and practices that provide the best chance of delivering innovative products to create a meaningful consumer experience. In this context, it is important to recognize that when we address organizational forms, we are not thinking of corporate governance in the sense of managing agency costs and ensuring regulatory compliance, but the more pressing business task of putting in place organizational systems and processes that facilitate value creation through continued and sustained innovation The book examines how the contemporary concept and discourse of corporate governance may be obsolete or at least is increasingly disconnected from the needs and realities of the most innovative firms today The concept of organizing for innovation identifying process and practices that deliver the best opportunities for innovation needs to take centre stage This book aims to contribute to the nascent debate in this area by bringing together a series of chapters that examine various issues related to organizing for innovation
