Making Sense of Virtual Risks Casper Harteveld,2012

Along with the rise of digital games over the past decades came an increased interest for using games for other purposes than entertainment Although a few successes are known much research seems to suggest little evidence for games advantages Existing literature claims that more studies are needed that investigate the effective design and use of games and especially studies that are comprehensive rigorous and innovative To contribute to this emerging field the author investigated the case of Levee Patroller The target audience of the game levee patrollers are considered the eyes and ears of the Dutch water authorities They inspect levees and report any risks they encounter Similarly in the game players have to find all virtual failures in a region and report these If they do not find the failures in time or report them incorrectly it could result in a levee breach that floods the whole virtual region Uncertain Decisions Luigi Luini,2012-12-06 Uncertain more recent contributions on non expected utility theory fuzzy decision theory and case based theory This work also provides theoretical insights on measures of risk aversion and on new problems for general equilibrium analysis It analyzes how the thinking that underlies the theories described above spills over into real decisions and how the thinking that underlies these real decisions can explain the discrepancies between theoretical approaches and actual behavior This work elaborates on how the most recent laboratory experiments have become an important source both for evaluating the leading theory of
