but to social economic and political systems and often with implications for the appropriateness and adoption of technologies or the success of alternative cropping systems This book examines the challenges of adaptation in smallholder farming in Africa analysing the social economic political and climatic uncertainties that impact on agriculture in the region and the range of solutions proposed Drawing on case studies of genetically modified crops conservation agriculture and other climate smart solutions in eastern and southern Africa the book identifies how uncertainties are framed from above as well experienced from below by farmers themselves It provides a compelling insight into why ideas about adaptation emerge from whom and with what implications This book offers a unique perspective and will be highly relevant to students of climate change adaptation food security and poverty alleviation as well as policy makers and field practitioners in international development and agronomy
