Statistics in Medicine Robert H. Riffenburgh, 2011-08-29 Medicine deals with treatments that work often but not always so treatment success must be based on probability Statistical methods lift medical research from the anecdotal to measured levels of probability This book presents the common statistical methods used in 90% of medical research along with the underlying basics in two parts a textbook section for use by students in health care training programs e g medical schools or residency training and a reference section for use by practicing clinicians in reading medical literature and performing their own research The book does not require a significant level of mathematical knowledge and couches the methods in multiple examples drawn from clinical medicine giving it applicable context Easy to follow format incorporates medical examples step by step methods and check yourself exercises Two part design features course material and a professional reference section Chapter summaries provide a review of formulas method algorithms and check lists Companion site links to statistical databases that can be downloaded and used to perform the exercises from the book and practice statistical methods New in this Edition New chapters on multifactor tests on means of continuous data equivalence testing and advanced methods New topics include trial randomization treatment ethics in medical research imputation of missing data and making evidence based medical decisions Updated database coverage and additional exercises Expanded coverage of numbers needed to treat and to benefit and regression analysis including stepwise regression and Cox regression Thorough discussion on required sample size

Statistics and Finance David Ruppert, 2014-02-26 This textbook emphasizes the applications of statistics and probability to finance Students are assumed to have had a prior course in statistics but no background in finance or economics The basics of probability and statistics are reviewed and more advanced topics in statistics such as regression ARMA and GARCH models the bootstrap and nonparametric regression using splines are introduced as needed The book covers the classical methods of finance such as portfolio theory CAPM and the Black Scholes formula and it introduces the somewhat newer area of behavioral finance Applications and use of MATLAB and SAS software are stressed The book will serve as a text in courses aimed at advanced undergraduates and masters students in statistics engineering and applied mathematics as well as quantitatively oriented MBA students Those in the finance industry wishing to know more statistics could also use it for self study
