Implications and Consequences of Anthropogenic Pollution in Polar Environments Roland Kallenborn, 2016-07-01 The first evidence on the adverse effects of organic pollutants on Arctic ecosystems was provided by international research initiatives more than 30 years ago Today the indigenous people of the North are considered to be affected by exposure to persistent organic pollutants POPs and metals through their traditional marine food sources The occurrence of pollutants of emerging concern in remote Polar environments is considered an essential criterion for prioritising this largely neglected type of contamination in national international and global regulation schemes Initiated during the first international Polar Years IPY 2007 2009 and continued afterwards 11 representative initiatives and projects are summarised as chapters in this book which highlights today's interdisciplinary research on POPs in the Polar environment. The individual chapters describe in detail the consequences, priorities and perspectives of international research on POPs, legacy and emerging xenobiotics, its implications for regulations and scientific priorities including societal and cultural developments in the Arctic as well as conservation priorities in Antarctica. This book is intended for all readers interested in learning more about modern research on environmental pollutants in the Polar environments with a strong focus on Arctic environments. The impacts of pollution and climate change on Polar regions and the world as a whole will continue to be felt for many years to come. Sound science is thus vital in order to underpin actions that need to be taken at the global, regional and local levels. This book contributes to this highly relevant interdisciplinary environmental scientific endeavour.

Nuclear Radiation Nanosensors and Nanosensory Systems Paata J.

Kervalishvili, Panayotis H. Yannakopoulos, 2016-04-11. This collection of selected review papers focuses on topics such as digital radiation sensors and nanosensory systems for nanotechnology applications and integrated X-ray PET/CT detectors, nanophosphors and nanocrystal quantum dots as X-ray radiation sensors, the luminescence efficiency of CdSe/ZnS QD and UV-induced luminescence efficiency distribution investigations devoted to the quantum and multi-parametrical nature of disasters and the modeling thereof using quantum search and quantum query algorithms, sum-frequency generation, IR, Fourier and Raman spectroscopy methods as well as investigations into the vibrational modes of viruses and other pathogenic microorganisms aimed at creating optical biosensory systems. This is followed by a review of radiation-resistant semiconductor sensors and magnetic measurement instrumentation for magnetic diagnostics of high-tech fission and fusion set-ups and accelerators, the evaluation of the use of neutron radiation, ¹⁰B-enriched semiconducting materials as thin film, highly reliable, highly sensitive and fast-acting robust solid-state electronic neutron detectors and the irradiation of n-Si crystals with protons which converts the metallic inclusions to dielectric ones in isochronous annealing, therefore leading to opto-micro-nanoelectronic devices including nuclear radiation nanosensors. The book concludes with a comparative study of the nitride and sulfide chemisorbed layers, a chemical model that describes the formation of such layers in hydrazine sulfide and water sodium sulfide solution and recent developments in the microwave-enhanced processing and microwave-assisted synthesis of nanoparticles and nanomaterials using Mn(OH)₂.
