Pedigree Worksheet

You can look at a pedigree and determine whether traits are dominant or recessive, and you can also tell if it is sex-linked or autosomal. A sex-linked recessive characteristic is determined by an allele that is carried only on the X chromosomes. The shorter Y chromosome does not carry an allele for a sex-linked trait. Since there is only one X in his genotype (XY), a male who carries a particular recessive allele on the X chromosome will have the sex-linked condition. A female who carries a recessive allele on one X chromosome will not show the condition if there is a dominant allele on her other X chromosome. She will express the recessive condition only if she inherits two recessive alleles – one from each parent. Her chances of inheriting the condition are thus greatly reduced. One sex-linked trait is hemophilia, a condition in which the blood does not clot properly. Most people who have hemophilia are men. View the pedigree below and interpret the diagram to answer the questions.

A. Interpreting a human pedigree.

1. Number all individuals on the pedigree at the top of each shape.

2. In a pedigree a square represents a male. If it is darkened he has hemophilia; if clear, he had normal blood clotting.

a. How many males are there? _____

b. How many males have hemophilia?

3. A circle represents a female. If it is darkened, she has hemophilia; if open she is normal.

a. How many females are there? _____

b. How many females have hemophilia? _____

4. A marriage is shown by a horizontal line connecting a circle to a square.

a. How many marriages are there? _____

5. A line perpendicular to a marriage line indicates the offspring. If the line ends with either a circle or a square, the couple had only one child. However, if the line is connected to another horizontal line, then several children were produced, each shown by a short vertical line connected to the horizontal line. The first child born appears to the left and the last born to the right.

a. How many children did the first couple have? _____

b. How many children did the third couple have? _____

6. Level I represents the first generation, level II represents the second generation.

a. How many generations are there? _____

b. How many members are there in the fourth generation? _____

Handbook on Analyzing Human Genetic Data Shili Lin, Hongyu Zhao, 2009-10-13 The discipline of statistical genetics is highly computational Be it exact computational methods simulation based or a hybrid of the two computational packages are indispensable tools and constant companions of researchers in the field This handbook is intended to provide human geneticists and other biomedical researchers with guidance on selections of appropriate computational methods and software packages for their specific genetic problems It may also be used by students and other learners as a reference in conjunction with a more theoretical and/or methodologically oriented text book This book tries to strike a balance between methodological expositions and practical guidelines for software selections Wherever possible comparisons among the competing methods and software are made to highlight the relative advantages and disadvantages of the approaches so that the reader can make informed choices to best match their specific needs Human genetics has been undergoing an evolution in the past several years as new knowledge and technologies are transforming the field leading to numerous new discoveries of genes associated with complex traits such as cancer obesity and diabetes Many recent genome wide association studies employ the case control design where the study subjects consist of unrelated affected individuals and normal controls For each individual a large number of genetic markers are queried
