A Presentist Path To World Peace:

A Presentist Path to World Peace M. G. Person, 2014-10-10 The Road to Ukraine Frank Furedi, 2022-08-01 Russia's invasion of Ukraine is the latest chapter in a series of events that have their origins in World War One. The difficult existential questions that emerged before and during this conflict still remain unresolved. Contrary to the claim that wars are not supposed to happen in Europe or that we live in the era of the End of History, the experience of Ukraine highlights the salience of the spell of the past. The failure of the West to take its past seriously has left it confused and unprepared to deal with the current crisis. Unexpectedly fashionable claims about the irrelevance of borders and of nation states have been exposed as shallow myths. The author argues that the West's self-inflicted condition of historical amnesia has encouraged it to disregard the salience of geo-political realities. Suddenly the once fashionable claims that made up the virtues of globalisation appear threadbare. This problem, which was already evident during the global Covid pandemic, has reached a crisis point in the battlefield of Ukraine. History has had its revenge on a culture that believes that what happened in the past no longer matters. The Road To Ukraine: How the West Lost Its Way argues that overcoming the state of historical amnesia is the precondition for the restoration of global solidarity.

Beyond 'Presentism', 2009-01-01. Precisely titled, this powerful collection constitutes a chronotope, an erudite enactment of interstices within and among historical time, spiritual place and political culture. A recollection focused forward to those hybrid generations in Canadian classrooms whose frontier is haunted by forts populated by not always their ancestors inscribed in their national, regional, aboriginal identities. Homophobic, hygienic, the curriculum is always already inhabited by the language of the Other, propelling us toward post-post being forested in difference, rooted in images refracted through mirrors and windows. In constructing this crucial collage of decolonization, the contributors summon us to study with them the place we inhabit.

WILLIAM F. PINAR, Professor and Canada Research Chair, Department of Curriculum and Pedagogy, University of British Columbia, Canada.

The Marrying Monk Dadajii Vimalananda, 2013-10-31. Dada has spent the last 40 years of his life living among us just as a normal human being. He never asked for any special treatment or recognition. He always gave his spiritual teachings freely and has served his community in every possible capacity while still facing the same marital, familial, financial challenges that we all face. Dada's life is an inspiration to us all. He has shown the way to all Americans that we can face each daily challenge, struggle and hardship and still keep our inner strength, our poise and our purpose through it all. Dada's story will amaze you, will amuse you and will astound you, and finally it will inspire in you the confidence that you can accomplish all that Dada has accomplished in your life as well.

The Social Life of Connectivity in Africa Mirjam de Bruijn, Rijk van Dijk, 2012-12-05. The rapid increase in adoption of modern connective technologies like the mobile phone has reshaped the social landscape of Africa. This book examines the myriad possibilities that the post-global moment offers African societies to develop and to relate, offering profound new insights into the processes of globalization.
