HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY

Study of the human organism and its parts

Anatomy

The study of the structure of the human body

Physiology

The study of the function of the human body

Structural levels

Also known as the levels of organization, the levels of the human body are:

- 1. Chemical level - the study of the chemical composition of the body
- 2. Cellular level - the study of the structure and function of the cells
- 3. Tissue level - the study of the structure and function of the tissues
- 4. Organ level - the study of the structure and function of the organs
- 5. System level - the study of the structure and function of the systems
- 6. Organism level - the study of the structure and function of the whole organism

CELLS AND TISSUES

Cells are the basic units of structure and function of the body

Composition of cellular fluids

Cells are composed of two main parts:

1. Cytoplasm - the fluid-filled space between the nucleus and the cell membrane

2. Nucleus - the control center of the cell

The nucleus is surrounded by a nuclear envelope

The nuclear envelope is composed of two layers of phospholipids

The nuclear envelope is perforated by nuclear pores

Nuclear pores allow for the exchange of materials between the nucleus and the cytoplasm

The cytoplasm is composed of a fluid called cytosol

Cytosol is composed of water, ions, and small molecules

The cytoplasm is also composed of organelles

Organelles are specialized structures that perform specific functions

Examples of organelles include the nucleus, mitochondrion, and Golgi apparatus

Organelles are surrounded by a membrane

The membrane is composed of a phospholipid bilayer

Phospholipids are composed of a hydrophilic head and a hydrophobic tail

The hydrophilic head is composed of a phosphate group

The hydrophobic tail is composed of two fatty acid chains

The fatty acid chains are composed of carbon and hydrogen atoms

The carbon atoms are arranged in a chain

The hydrogen atoms are attached to the carbon atoms

The hydrogen atoms are arranged in a cloud around the carbon chain

The cloud of hydrogen atoms is called the electron cloud

The electron cloud is composed of electrons

Electrons are negatively charged particles

Electrons are found in shells around the nucleus

The shells are composed of protons and neutrons

Protons are positively charged particles

Neutrons are neutral particles

Protons and neutrons are found in the nucleus

The nucleus is composed of protons and neutrons

Protons and neutrons are held together by strong forces

These forces are called nuclear forces

Nuclear forces are much stronger than electromagnetic forces

Electromagnetic forces are responsible for the attraction between protons and electrons

The attraction between protons and electrons is called the electrostatic force

The electrostatic force is responsible for the attraction between the nucleus and the electron cloud

The electrostatic force is also responsible for the attraction between the electron cloud and the nucleus

The electrostatic force is also responsible for the attraction between the electron cloud and the nucleus
