2014 Geography SI Paper:

Recontextualising Geography in Education Mary Fargher, David Mitchell, Emma Till, 2021-11-10 In this book international geography educators discuss the ways in which geographical knowledge is recontextualised in schools and consider effective approaches to facilitate improve and advance geography education in research and practice It addresses key topics in recontextualising geography such as the epistemic relationships between the university discipline and the school subject designing and evaluating the geography curriculum the role of students in the transformation of knowledge in the classroom and selecting and transforming geographical content knowledge for the primary school curriculum At an international level the contributors and editors bring together an advanced collection of research and discussion surrounding the opportunities and challenges of recontextualising geography in education The book is of interest to geography educators internationally including academics at universities teachers in schools and professional geographers with an interest in education

Global Health and Geographical Imaginaries Clare Herrick, David Reubi, 2017-03-16 To date geography has not yet carved out a disciplinary niche within the diffuse domain that constitutes global health However the compulsion to do and understand global health emerges largely from contexts that geography has long engaged with urbanisation globalisation political economy risk vulnerability lifestyles geopolitics culture governance development and the environment Moreover global health brings with it an innate powerful and politicising spatial logic that is only now starting to emerge as an object of enquiry This book aims to draw attention to and showcase the wealth of existing and emergent geographical contributions to what has recently been termed critical global health studies Geographical perspectives this collection argues are essential to bringing new and critical perspectives to bear on the inherent complexities and interconnectedness of global health problems and purported solutions Thus rather than rehearsing the frequent critique that global health is more a set of problems than a coherent disciplinary approach to ameliorating the health of all and redressing global bio inequalities this collection seeks to explore what these problems might represent and the geographical imaginaries inherent in their constitution This unique volume of geographical writings on global health not only deepens social scientific engagements with health itself but in so doing brings forth a series of new conceptual methodological and empirical contributions to social scientific multidisciplinary scholarship

A Research Agenda for Military Geographies Rachel Woodward, A Research Agenda for Military Geographies explores how military activities and phenomena are shaped by geography and how geographies are in turn shaped by military practices A variety of future research agendas are mapped out examining the questions faced by geographers when studying the military and its effects

Handbook of Behavioral and Cognitive Geography Daniel R. Montello, 2018-04-27 This comprehensive Handbook summarizes existing work and presents new concepts and empirical results from leading scholars in the multidisciplinary field of behavioral and cognitive geography the study of the human mind and activity in and concerning space place and environment It provides the broadest and most inclusive coverage of the field so far including work relevant to human geography cartography and geographic information science The Philosophy of Geo-Ontologies Timothy Tambassi, 2021-06-26 Placed at the intersection among philosophy geography and computer science the domain of investigation of applied ontology of geography ranges from making explicit assumptions and commitments of geography as a discipline to the theoretical and technical needs of geographical IT tools such as GIS and geo ontologies Such a domain of investigation represents the central topic of discussion of this book which intends 1 to provide an overview of the mutual interactions among the disciplines encompassed in the domain 2 to discuss notions such as spatial representation boundaries and geographical entities that constitute the main focus of the philosophical ontology of geography 3 to propose a geographical classification of geo ontologies in response to their increasing diffusion within the contemporary debate as well as to show what ontological categories best systematize their contents The second edition of the book differs from the first one as it offers a broader analysis of the philosophical ontology of geography an analysis that is no more limited to the theoretical need of geo ontologies Handbook of Research methods and Applications in Environmental Studies Matthias Ruth, 2015-08-28 This Handbook presents methods to advance the understanding of interdependencies between the well being of human societies and the performance of their biophysical environment It showcases applications to material and energy use urbanization and tech Fostering Transformative Research in the Geographical Sciences National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Earth Sciences and Resources, Geographical Sciences Committee, Committee on Identifying Transformative Research in the Geographical Sciences, 2019-04-22 The central purpose of all research is to create new knowledge In the geographical sciences this is driven by a desire to create new knowledge about the relations between space place and the anthropogenic and non anthropogenic features and processes of the Earth But some research goes beyond these modest aims and creates new opportunities for further research or affects the process of knowledge acquisition more broadly or changes the way other researchers in a domain think about the world and go about their business Due to its positive impacts transformative research can be regarded as inherently having greater value than more conventional research and funding agencies clearly regard transformative research as something to be encouraged and funded through special programs Assessments of transformative research funding initiatives are few and provide a mixed picture of their effectiveness The challenge is whether transformative research can be identified at the time it is proposed rather than after it has been conducted communicated and its influence on the discipline has become clear Fostering Transformative Research in the Geographical Sciences reviews how transformative research has emerged in the past what its early markers were and makes recommendations for how it can be nurtured in the future The Philosophy of Geography Timothy Tambassi, Marcello Tanca, 2021-08-23 The relationship between geography and philosophy is still largely in need of being explored Geographers and philosophers share the responsibility for that On the one hand geographers have considered as a dangerous deviation any attempt to elaborate an image of the Earth which was not a mere replica of a cartographic representation On the other hand philosophers have generally been uninterested in a discipline offering little chance for critical reflection In light of these considerations the purpose of this book is to identify some fundamental philosophical issues involved in the reflection of geography by adopting a perspective which looks at the discipline with a specific focus on its fundamental concepts and distinctions The European Union and the Geopolitics of the Arctic Andreas Raspotnik, 2018-01-26 The Arctic is a region that has seen exponential growth as a space of geopolitical interest over the past decade This insightful book is the first to analyse the European Union's Arctic policy endeavours of the early 21st Century from a critical geopolitical perspective

Geographic Information Systems and Science Jorge Rocha, Patricia Abrantes, 2019 Geographic information science GISc has established itself as a collaborative information processing scheme that is increasing in popularity Yet this interdisciplinary and or transdisciplinary system is still somewhat misunderstood This book talks about some of the GISc domains encompassing students researchers and common users Chapters focus on important aspects of GISc keeping in mind the processing capability of GIS along with the mathematics and formulae involved in getting each solution The book has one introductory and eight main chapters divided into five sections The first section is more general and focuses on what GISc is and its relation to GIS and Geography the second is about location analytics and modeling the third on remote sensing data analysis the fourth on big data and augmented reality and finally the fifth looks over volunteered geographic information
