Abstract: A review of the literature on the effects of the 1997-1998 Asian financial crisis on the economies of the Asian countries is presented. The review shows that the crisis has had a significant impact on the economies of the Asian countries, leading to a sharp decline in GDP and a significant increase in unemployment. The review also shows that the crisis has led to a significant increase in the foreign debt of the Asian countries, and that the crisis has led to a significant increase in the inflation rate of the Asian countries. The review concludes that the crisis has had a significant impact on the economies of the Asian countries, and that the crisis has led to a significant increase in the foreign debt of the Asian countries, and that the crisis has led to a significant increase in the inflation rate of the Asian countries.
