Argumentation And Education Theoretical Foundations And Practices:

Argumentation and Education Nathalie Muller Mirza, Anne-Nelly Perret-Clermont, 2009-06-19 During the last decade argumentation has attracted growing attention as a means to elicit processes linguistic logical dialogical psychological etc that can sustain or provoke reasoning and learning Constituting an important dimension of daily life and of professional activities argumentation plays a special role in democracies and is at the heart of philosophical reasoning and scientific inquiry Argumentation as such requires specific intellectual and social skills Hence argumentation will have an increasing importance in education both because it is a critical competence that has to be learned and because argumentation can be used to foster learning in philosophy history sciences and in many other domains Argumentation and Education answers these and other questions by providing both theoretical backgrounds in psychology education and theory of argumentation and concrete examples of experiments and results in school contexts in a range of domains It reports on existing innovative practices in education settings at various levels Argumentation and Education, 2007 Interpersonal Argumentation in Educational and Professional Contexts Francesco Arcidiacono, Antonio Bova, 2017-07-11 This book provides a comprehensive overview of empirical studies based on various approaches devoted to examining the interpersonal argumentative processes involved in different contexts It also identifies context dependent similarities and differences in the ways in which argumentative interactions are managed by individuals in a range of educational and professional settings How can some forms of negotiation change and debate result from engaging in interpersonal processes during argumentation How do interpersonal dimensions affect the interdependencies between argumentative exchanges and construction of knowledge and skills The book clarifies these open questions by providing a discussion of theoretical and empirical issues at the forefront of research in order to provide a view of how interpersonal argumentation in educational and professional contexts is actually questioned and investigated It offers readers an opportunity to discover the crucial importance of an in depth understanding of the role and functions played by the interpersonal dynamics within argumentative interactions occurring in a wide range of educational and professional contexts Dialogue, Argumentation and Education Baruch B. Schwarz, Michael J. Baker, 2017 This book presents the historical theoretical and empirical foundations of educational practices involving dialogue and argumentation Discourse, Conversation and Argumentation: Theoretical Perspectives and Innovative Empirical Studies - Volume I Antonio Bova, Carlo Galimberti, Lise Haddouk, Francesco Arcidiacono, 2021-12-06 Argumentation and Language — Linguistic, Cognitive and Discursive Explorations Steve Oswald, Thierry Herman, Jérôme Jacquin, 2018-03-08 This volume focuses on the role language plays at all levels of the argumentation process It explores the effects that specific linguistic choices may have in the production and the reception of arguments and in doing so it moves beyond the first necessary descriptive stance provided by current literature on the topic Each chapter provides an original take illuminating one or more of the following three issues the range of linguistic resources language users draw on as they argue how cognitive processes of meaning construction may influence argumentative practices and which discursive devices can be used to fulfil a number of argumentative goals The volume includes theoretical and empirical or applied stances providing the reader both with state of the art reflections on the relationship between argumentation and language and with concrete examples of how this relationship plays out in naturally occurring argumentative practices such as classroom interaction and political parliamentary or journalistic discourse This is a very original timely and welcome contribution to the study of argumentation conducted with the tools of the language sciences The collection of papers relevantly tackles key linguistic discursive and cognitive aspects of argumentative practices whose treatment is underrepresented in mainstream argumentation studies by offering new and exciting linguistically grounded theoretical accounts As such the volume testifies both to the vigour of the linguistic current within the discipline and to the high standards of scholarly commitment and quality that the younger generation is pushing forward Without question this book marks an important milestone in the relationships between linguistics and argumentation theory Christian Plantin Professor Emeritus
