Argus Reference Manual:

Argus Reference Manual, 1993 Argus Reference Manual Questor Systems, 1996 Argus Reference Manual Questor Systems, 1994 Argus Reference Manual, 1987 Argus is an experimental language system designed to support the construction and execution of distributed programs Argus is intended to support only a subset of the applications that could benefit from being implemented by a distributed program Two properties distinguish these applications they make use of on line data that must remain consistent in spite of concurrency and hardware failures and they provide services under real time constraints that are not severe Examples of such applications are office automation systems and banking systems Argus is based on CLU It is largely an extension of CLU but there are number of differences Like CLU Argus provides procedures for procedural abstraction iterators for control abstraction and clusters for data abstraction In addition Argus provides guardians that encapsulate and control access to one or more resources Argus also provides equate modules as a convenient way to refer to constants As in CLU modules may be parameterized so that a single module can define a class of related abstractions Keywords Fault tolerant computing Argus Reference Manual for the Windows Operating System Argus Financial Software (Firm), 1995 Inference Control in Statistical Databases Josep Domingo-Ferrer, 2003-08-01 Inference control in statistical databases also known as statistical disclosure limitation or statistical confidentiality is about finding tradeoffs to the tension between the increasing societal need for accurate statistical data and the legal and ethical obligation to protect privacy of individuals and enterprises which are the source of data for producing statistics Techniques used by intruders to make inferences compromising privacy increasingly draw on data mining record linkage knowledge discovery and data analysis and thus statistical inference control becomes an integral part of computer science This coherent state of the art survey presents some of the most recent work in the field The papers presented together with an introduction are organized in topical sections on tabular data protection microdata protection and software and user case studies Argus 6 Reference Manual W. Lee Schexnaider, Michael Thurston, 1996-06-01 Catalogue of Distributed File/Operating Systems Uwe M. Borghoff, 2012-12-06 In general distributed systems can be classified into Distributed File Systems DFS and Distributed Operating Systems DOS The survey which follows distinguishes between DFS approaches in Chapters 2 3 and DOS approaches in Chapters 4 5 Within DFS and DOS I further distinguish traditional and object oriented approaches A traditional approach is one where processes are the active components in the systems and where the name space is hierarchically organized In a centralized environment UNIX would be a good example of a traditional approach On the other hand an object oriented approach deals with objects in which all information is encapsulated Some systems of importance do not fit into the DFS DOS classification I call these systems closely related and put them into Chapter 6 Chapter 7 contains a table of comparison This table gives a lucid overview summarizing the information provided and allowing for quick access The last chapter is added for the sake of completeness It contains very brief descriptions of other related systems These systems are of minor interest or do not provide transparency at all Sometimes I had to assign a system to this chapter simply for lack of adequate information about it

European Conference on Object-Oriented Programming Pierre America, 1991-07-03 ECOOP 91 is the fifth annual European Conference on Object Oriented Programming From their beginning the ECOOP conferences have been very successful as a forum of high scientific quality where the newest developments connected to object oriented programming and related areas could be presented and discussed Over the last few years object oriented technology has gained widespread use and considerable popularity In parallel with this the field has matured scientifically but there is still a lot of room for new ideas and for hot debates over fundamental issues as these proceedings show The 22 papers in this volume were selected by the programme committee from 129 submissions Important issues discussed in the contributions are language design specification databases concurrency types and software development Preliminary Argus Reference Manual E. H. Baalborgen, 1986 Transactions and Database Dynamics Gunter Saake, Kerstin Schwarz, Can Türker, 2003-06-26 These post proceedings contain the revised versions of the accepted papers of the international workshop Transactions and Database Dynamics which was the eighth workshop in a series focusing on foundations of models and languages for data and objects FoMLaDO Seven long papers and three short papers were accepted for inclusion in the proceedings The papers address various issues of transactions and database dynamics criteria and protocols for global snapshot isolation in federated transaction management unified theory of concurrency control and replication control specification of evolving information systems inheritance mechanisms for deductive object databases with updates specification of active rules for maintaining database consistency integrity checking in subtransactions open nested transactions for multi tier architectures declarative specification of transactions with static and dynamic integrity constraints logic based specification of update queries as open nested transactions and execution guarantees and transactional processes in electronic commerce payments In addition to the regular papers there are papers resulting from two working groups The first working group paper discusses the basis for transactional computation In particular it addresses the specification of transactional software The second working group paper focuses on transactions in electronic commerce applications Among others Internet transactions payment protocols and concurrency control and persistence mechanisms are discussed Moreover there is an invited paper by Jari Veijalainen which discusses transactional aspects in mobile electronic commerce Argus/Muse Reference Manual Questor Systems, 1989 Computer Algebra and Parallelism Richard E. Zippel, 1992-03-25 This book contains papers presented at a workshop on the use of parallel techniques in symbolic and algebraic computation held at Cornell University in May 1990 The eight papers in the book fall into three groups The first three papers discuss particular programming substrates for parallel symbolic computation especially for distributed memory machines The next three papers discuss novel ways of computing with elements of finite fields and with algebraic numbers The finite field technique is especially interesting since it uses the Connection Machine a SIMD machine to achieve surprising amounts of parallelism One of the parallel computing substrates is also used to implement a real root isolation technique One of the crucial algorithms in modern algebraic computation is computing the standard or Gröbner basis of an ideal The final two papers discuss two different approaches to speeding their computation One uses vector processing on the Cray and achieves significant speed ups The other uses a distributed memory multiprocessor and effectively explores the trade offs involved with different interconnect topologies of the multiprocessors
