Multimodality Across Global Sites Maureen Kendrick, 2016-03-17 Over the past three decades our conceptualizations of literacy and what it means to be literate have expanded to include recognition that there is a qualitative difference in how we communicate through modalities such as the visual audio spatial and linguistic and that different modes are combined in complex ways to make meaning The field of multimodality is concerned with how human beings use different modes of communication to represent or make meaning in the world Despite the rapid growth of international research in this area accounts of a broader range of global sites particularly economically under resourced and culturally diverse contexts such as Sub Saharan Africa remain under researched and under represented in the literature This book contextualizes a range of literacies including health literacies community literacies family literacies and multilingual literacies within broader modes of communication most specifically play and the visual The claim is that powerful pedagogies methodologies and theories can be constructed by taking a more detailed look at multimodal meaning making in diverse contexts By describing and analyzing multimodal practices and texts across a diverse range of contexts the book highlights different constructs issues and emerging questions dealing with the study of literacies and multimodality The Role of Letter-Speech Sound Integration in

Typical and Atypical Reading Development Jurgen Tijms, Silvia Brem, Gorka Fraga González, Iliana I. Karipidis, 2020-07-24

Fluency is the quintessence of effective reading To obtain socio economic success fluent reading is of primordial importance and reading is considered a crucial marker of an individual's life course Approximately 5% of children are affected by developmental dyslexia exhibiting inaccurate word recognition spelling phonological decoding and most importantly severely dysfluent reading which remains as their most characterizing and persistent deficit Unable to attain society's literacy demands individuals with dyslexia are at severe risk for adverse academic economic and psychosocial consequences Recently it has been posed that the development of automatic letter speech sound LSS integration is critical in the acquisition of fluent reading skills and in particular that a failure to develop automatic LSS integration results in an impairment of reading fluency In support neurocognitive research has suggested that the development of automatized processing of LSS associations is an essential step in the formation of a functional neural network for reading Furthermore both neurocognitive and behavioural studies have suggested a less efficient LSS integration in children with dyslexia than in typical readers Finally results from intervention studies have suggested that training LSS might be a promising approach to ameliorate dysfluent reading in children with dyslexia Nonetheless there is still a considerable gap of knowledge in our understanding of the mechanisms by which learning LSS associations relate to dys fluent reading Forum ,1982 The Times Index ,2005 Indexes the Times and its supplements
