The practical tasks range in type from basic skills to investigations in support of LOs 1 and 2. Criterion assessment of groups is usually by rubric, although answers provided to questions could be scored. Assessment of practical work can be more formative or more summative, depending on the placing of the practical work in the learning programme relative to the learning of the theoretical aspects of the topic.

The research project is assessed using the criteria provided in the rubric, with an emphasis on LOs 2 and 3. Although meant to be summative, assessment of this task can be made more formative by providing feedback on plans and drafts. Where learners are working in groups, the teacher could ask them to weight each contribution and distribute scores accordingly. There should be multiple chances to formatively assess learners' work throughout the project. Teachers could develop rubrics for Process, Presentation, Criteria, Research, Teamwork, Persuasiveness, and Analysis and give them to learners.

Rubrics help make your expectations clear to learners. They help the teacher assess a variety of qualities and behaviors by clearly defining or describing the levels of skills from high to low.

Temple, Richard Hammersley, Margriet van Laar, Rhonda F. Brown, 2015-05-08 Cannabis remains the most commonly used illicit substance world wide with international estimates indicating that 2 8% 4 5% of the global population use cannabis each year This prevalence rate has not changed substantially in the past decade and there is no indication that it will do so in the next decade. In line with this, many prominent organizations and individuals have acknowledged that the war on drugs has failed and are now calling for a rethink on drug-related policy and legal frameworks. With a growing number of jurisdictions across the world heeding this call and introducing legislation to decriminalize or legalize cannabis use, it is essential that any changes to legal frameworks and public health policies are based on the best available scientific evidence. To facilitate the adoption of an evidence-based approach to cannabis policy, the aim of this Research Topic was to gather a comprehensive body of research to clarify the current state of evidence relating to cannabis use. Of interest were articles addressing the following questions: How do we study cannabis use? e.g. recruitment, measuring dose, use, assessing dependence, problematic use, confounding, translation of findings from animal studies. What do we know about cannabis use? e.g. patterns, contexts, methods of use. What do we know about people who use cannabis? e.g. who uses cannabis and why? What are the social settings, norms, and cultural values that go along with cannabis use? How is problematic cannabis use, as opposed to mere use, defined, judged, and constructed in different societies? What do we know about the effects/outcomes of cannabis use? e.g. acute, short, and long-term harms/benefits. What do we know about the factors associated with the initiation, continuance, and cessation of cannabis use? What do we know about the medicinal use of cannabis? e.g. who uses medicinally and why, efficacy, effectiveness in different clinical populations, comparison with other medications. What do we know about treatment for people who engage in problematic cannabis use? e.g. who seeks/is referred to treatment and why, efficacy and effectiveness. What do we know about cannabis? e.g. pharmacodynamics, pharmacokinetics of different strains, cultivation, preparation, and consumption methods. How do policy and legal frameworks impact on the people who use cannabis? What is the future for cannabis research? e.g. potential avenues for future research, aspects needing more attention, innovative approaches, political funding issues affecting cannabis research.

STEM Education from Asia Tang Wee Teo, Aik-Ling Tan, Paul Teng, 2021-12-24 Asia is the largest continent in the world. Five out of the top ten high-performing economies in the Programme for International Student Assessment (PISA) 2018 are located in Asia. Why do Asian students perform so well in STEM-related subjects? This book answers this by examining the STEM education policies and initiatives in Asian economies, as well as the training programmes undertaken by STEM teachers in Asia. The book is broken into four sections, each accompanied by a passage of commentary that summarizes the key takeaways of the chapters. Section one focuses on STEM policy environments and how various countries have developed policies that promote STEM as an integral part of national economic development. Section two focuses on STEM teacher education in the Philippines and Thailand, while section three focuses on STEM curriculum design, context, and challenges in four Asian economies. The fourth and final section focuses on presenting snapshots of STEM education research efforts in Malaysia, South Korea, and Singapore. Written by Asian academics, this book will provide valuable insights to policy makers, educators, and researchers interested in the topic of STEM education, especially in the
