Limpopo Life Anneli Ekblom, Michel Notelid, 2025-06-20 Limpopo Life introduces the reader to the material culture oral histories and the negotiation of conservation and landscape in an area now known as Limpopo National Park Introducing the archaeology of a region that has not been surveyed or discussed this book connects to the archaeology history heritage and conservation discussions in the southern African region as a whole Vegetation history and paleoecology are combined with archaeological surveys and excavations written sources oral histories and travelogues to draw a picture of the diverse landscape of the Limpopo region Intermixed within this narrative are sections that focus on an individual species a life history or an event providing a view of the complex and dynamic interactions The role of humans in this diverse environment and how they have co evolved with other species shaping each other s destinies in a consequential and accidental way is outlined This book will be of interest to researchers and students interested in the archaeology heritage and conservation of Mozambique Zimbabwe and northern South Africa It will also be of relevance to readers interested in the social history of the Limpopo and Kruger National Parks and this cross border area Sustainable Development and Rural Public Health Michael

Hendryx,2024-07-13 This book offers strategies and solutions for rural communities dependent on fossil fuel economies to enable them to transition to sustainable development The move to renewable energy development and use is gaining global traction and will inevitably become standard practice in the coming years and yet vulnerable communities around the world remain dependent on finite resource extraction for local economic activity What will happen to these communities as the fossil fuel era fades away Dependence on declining resource extraction economies arises from entrenched short term interests in political and corporate worlds and in the knowledge skills and opportunities that local populations have at their disposal The edited volume takes a public health perspective by showing how dependence on fossil fuel extraction and processing economies creates not only environmental and economic problems but also public health disparities More importantly rather than documentation of problems and obstacles this book focuses primarily on solutions on real examples happening right now in communities around the world to take charge of their futures A series of case studies provide examples of local efforts underway in these communities to create sustainable economic alternatives to fossil fuel dependence The final section of the volume describes theory based and empirically grounded development priorities that are needed to make transitions achievable and long lasting including improvements in adolescent health and well being regenerative development sustainable food systems adult education and community based leadership Finally case studies and development priorities are integrated within a new rural development framework to guide other communities in their own transition efforts Although the challenges are daunting the book is ultimately optimistic and forward looking Sustainable Development and Rural Public Health From Fossil Fuels to Greener Futures is essential reading for public health practitioners and researchers social justice advocates and students in sustainability studies environmental justice and related areas Rural health professionals community leaders environmental planners policy makers industry leaders and entrepreneurs also will find this resource useful for their work Climate Change 2014 - Impacts, Adaptation and Vulnerability: Part B: Regional Aspects: Volume 2, Regional Aspects Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC),2014-12-29 This latest Fifth Assessment Report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC will again form the standard reference for all those concerned with climate change and its consequences including students
