Observing Human Traits Lab

Background: Physical traits are observable characteristics that are determined by genes. Genes are specific segments of DNA located on chromosomes that code for a particular trait. Most genes have two or more variations called alleles. Some alleles are dominant over others, and dominant alleles will be expressed (an organism's phenotype or physical appearance) over recessive alleles. Recessive alleles may be present in an organism but expression will be masked in the presence of a dominant allele for the same gene. Recessive traits will only be expressed when there are two recessive alleles present in the genotype (the "code").

Keep in mind that it's not always quite this simple. There are other factors that can affect trait expression, and most traits have several genes that influence expression. This lab is a basic introduction to dominant and recessive traits. Let's get started!

Directions: Circle the phenotype you have for each of the following human traits.

The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts.

The Secret History is a masterful and suspenseful novel that will keep you wondering until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
