notions of modernization and economic development Sebastian Gil Ria o examines the campaign participants involvement in some of the most ambitious development projects of the postwar period In challenging race prejudice these experts drew on ideas about race that emphasized plasticity and mutability in contrast to the fixed categories of scientific racism Gil Ria o argues that these same ideas legitimated projects of economic development and social integration aimed at bringing ostensibly backward indigenous and non European peoples into the modern world He also shows how these experts promotion of studies of race relations inadvertently spurred a deeper reckoning with the structural and imperial sources of racism as well as the aftermath of the transatlantic slave trade Shedding new light on the postwar refashioning of ideas about race this book reveals how internationalist efforts to dismantle racism paved the way for postcolonial modernization projects
