Humanitarianism from Below Alejandro Olayo-M  ndez, 2025-08-05 Challenges the definition of humanitarian aid Aside from being one of the most important migration corridors in the world Mexico is becoming an immigrant destination itself with more and more migrants deciding or needing to stay in the country after failing to enter the United States In the absence of state aid migrant shelters have emerged as an informal welfare system for migrants asylum seekers refugees and deportees in Mexico Largely run by faith based humanitarian organizations these shelters have grown significantly in recent years Humanitarianism from Below examines the significance of these casas de migrantes migrant shelters in the migration process in Mexico The book also reviews the role of faith based humanitarian organizations whose engagement with migrants is perceived more as charity work than professional humanitarian work The volume argues that faith based humanitarian organizations work challenges traditional understandings of what counts as humanitarian aid It makes the case that in order to understand the full ecology of migration we need to understand not only how large organizations like the Red Cross work but also how these smaller and local entities with fewer resources interact with migrants on their journeys Most migration research tends to focus on its impact within home countries or in destination contexts rarely focusing on the actual migration process including the interactions that influence the course of the migration journey itself In conducting this research Alejandro Olayo M ndez traveled along migrant routes several times in order to gain knowledge about how migrants move and how they interact with the migrant shelters He offers a detailed look at the experiences and challenges of casas de migrantes in Mexico situating these faith based shelters as an integral part of Mexico s humanitarian ecosystem

Functional Supramolecular Nanoassemblies of Π -Conjugated Molecules Penglei Chen,Bin Wu,2020-01-13 conjugated systems of delocalized aromatic electrons along their backbones including conjugated small molecules oligomers polymers and carbonaceous materials etc have received considerable attention from a wide variety of scientific and technical communities Compared to inorganic materials the advantages of those based on tectons lie in their broad diversity flexibility and tunability with regard to structure geometry morphology processability composition functionality electronic band structure etc In terms of sophisticated molecular engineering these features endow them not only with excellent self assembly properties but also with unique optical electrical mechanical photophysical photochemical and biochemical attributes This renders them promising scaffolds for advanced functional materials AFMs in numerous areas of general interest such as electronics optics optoelectronics photovoltaics magnetic and piezoelectric devices sensors catalysts biomedicines and others With regard to the design synthesis of novel tectons the launch of diverse assembly fabrication protocols theoretical calculations etc the past several decades have witnessed tremendous advancements along this direction Thus far a vast array of high performance tectons based AFMs have been initiated To some extent the cooperative principle of stacking and other noncovalent interactions has been revealed and the structure property relationships have been disclosed Despite the existing progress this field still faces challenges for example i the need for scalable assembly manufacture under ambient conditions with low cost facile environmentally friendly protocols ii clearer correlations bridging the underlying intricate relationships of each successive step in assembly manufacture iii corresponding theoretical calculations for guiding the rational design of tectons that elucidate the cooperative principle of stacking and other noncovalent interactions as well as the principle of structure performance correlation iv stability and durability among the most important concerns regarding their commercialization The advancements accumulated during the past decades have established a solid foundation for the further development of conjugated systems based AFMs We believe that with unrelenting efforts from both scientific and technical communities of various backgrounds their practical applications will eventually be fulfilled This Research Topic aims to address the above mentioned challenges
