Hegde,Fred W. van Leeuwen,2017-10-10 Proteolysis by the ubiquitin proteasome pathway UPP in the nervous system has been extensively studied both in the context of normal physiological function as well as abnormal pathological conditions Although ubiquitin was used as a marker of brain pathology the normal functions of the UPP were not studied much in the nervous system until the 1990s The early investigations focused on synaptic plasticity which was followed by studies on the roles of protein degradation in the development of the nervous system Research on the role of abnormal roles of the UPP follows a parallel trajectory Since the 2000s the field has grown to encompass many subareas of research and several model systems Despite the progress made many unanswered questions still remain For example there are many unknowns about the precise spatial and temporal control of protein degradation in the normal nervous system With respect to the roles of proteolysis in brain pathology a major challenge is to elucidate the connection between impaired protein degradation and disease progression In addition in depth studies of the roles of ubiquitin proteasome mediated proteolysis in neurodegenerative diseases are promising in identifying therapeutic targets This ebook contains original research papers and insightful reviews that cover several aspects of proteolysis by the UPP and

Sharma,Ragini Bodade,2024-10-18 Microbial Secondary Metabolites SMs are low molecular weight compounds produced during secondary metabolism The majority are produced by specific groups of microorganisms under environmental stress conditions including nutrient deficiencies pH temperature and metal ions concentrations Many reported SMs are categorized as antibiotics pigments toxins pheromones enzyme inhibitors antitumor agents immunomodulators receptor antagonists and agonists animal and plant growth promoters and pesticides Their synthesis is regulated by a group of genes residing on the chromosomal DNA plasmid DNA known as Biosynthetic Gene Clusters BGCs Moreover their metabolic pathways are complex and controlled by many regulating factors thus needing to be studied from an enzymatic regulatory and differentiation perspective Due to their structural diversity SMs have a wide range of biotechnological applications in the agricultural health industrial and environmental sectors Hence they have a great potential to positively impact health nutrition and the economy on a global scale The main goal of this Research Topic is to highlight current research exploring microbial SMs and their potential future applications in the agricultural pharmaceutical industrial and environmental sectors Microbes have proved to be a reliable source of SM production with high structural diversity and product yields However there are several challenges to reliable SM production including the regulation of cultural conditions development of industrial strains and product yield Such challenges can be mitigated to some extent through exploring non conventional microbial sources chemical and biological modifications metagenomics and genome mining approaches Additionally genetic engineering techniques can improve microbial strain characteristics product yield and generate novel molecules Furthermore microbial co culture methods have been praised for increasing the yields and improving the structural diversity of the product as well as advances in computational strategies enabling the identification of BGCs in genome sequences and the prediction of chemical product structures Nevertheless there remains significant potential to identify novel and industrially important SMS
