Making Education Inclusive Sharon Moonsamy, Elizabeth Walton, 2015-09-18 Exclusionary pressures and practices are pervasive in education despite the clamour for more inclusive education Even as classrooms worldwide become more diverse education is unlikely to become inclusive without deliberate efforts to dismantle exclusion and enable inclusion This book is a compilation of contributions to the conversation about what these efforts might entail The conversation has its origins in the Making Education Inclusive Conference held in 2013 which brought together academics and practitioners from Southern Africa and other countries Given the expectation that teachers should play a key role in promoting inclusion it is not surprising to find significant interest in teacher education from many of the contributing authors Their concerns range from explicit teacher development for pedagogical responsiveness to learner diversity to overcoming the epistemological marginalisation that learners experience where teachers are not fully confident of their subject content and how to teach it Access to education is clearly not enough and other contributors to this book concern themselves with ways in which structures and systems could be reconstituted to enable meaningful inclusion This might mean looking at how teachers might use tiered systems of behaviour support and various metacognitive strategies how physical access can be promoted on a university campus and understanding how parents think about disability Each chapter represents a different perspective on what it might mean to resist educational exclusion in its many forms and each offers possible ways to make education more inclusive

New Models for Technical and Vocational Education and Training Makgato, Moses, Afeti, George, 2020-12-18 Technical and vocational education and training at technical schools are major contributing factors in combating poverty unemployment and inequality The primary purpose of technical and vocational education and training is to prepare students and learners for the world of work and for a smooth transition from education institutions into the workplace As the Fourth Industrial Revolution continues to create more radical changes in the labor market experts are calling for a reform of education including vocational education and training and adult and professional education New Models for Technical and Vocational Education and Training is an essential scholarly research book that examines TVET and CET colleges and programs that provide intermediate skills to enhance students chances of employability and entrepreneurship in Industry 4.0 The book explores knowledge in respect to workforce preparation digital skills development teaching and learning of TVET flexibility and articulation of TVET to respond to work integrated learning and reskilling and upskilling to avoid skill mismatches It is ideal for TVET schools academicians curriculum designers managers training officers administrators vocational professionals researchers and students

Paradise Lost, 2022-06-13 Paradise Lost Race and Racism in Post apartheid South Africa is about the continuing salience of race and persistence of racism in post apartheid South Africa The chapters in the volume illustrate the multiple ways in which race and racism are manifested and propose various strategies to confront racial inequality racism and the power structure that underpins it while exploring how through a renewed commitment to a non racial society apartheid racial categories can be put under erasure at exactly the time they are being reinforced Higher Education Pathways Ashwin, Paul,Case, Jennifer M.,2018-12-14 In what ways does access to undergraduate education have a transformative impact on people and societies What conditions are required for this impact to occur What are the pathways from an undergraduate education to the public good including inclusive economic development These questions have particular resonance in the South African higher education context which is attempting to tackle the challenges of widening access and improving completion rates in in a system in which the segregations of the apartheid years are still apparent Higher education is recognised in core legislation as having a distinctive and crucial role in building post apartheid society Undergraduate education is seen as central to addressing skills shortages in South Africa It is also seen to yield significant social returns including a consistent positive impact on societal institutions and the development of a range of capabilities that have public as well as private benefits This book offers comprehensive contemporary evidence that allows for a fresh engagement with these pressing issues Design and Measurement Strategies for Meaningful Learning

Gómez Ramos, José Luis,Gómez-Barreto, Isabel María,2022-04-01 Teaching content and measuring content are frequently considered separate entities when designing teaching instruction This can create a disconnect between how students are taught and how well they succeed when it comes time for assessment To heal this rift the theory of meaningful learning is a potential solution for designing effective teaching learning and assessment materials Design and Measurement Strategies for Meaningful Learning considers the best practices challenges and opportunities of instructional design as well as the theory and impact of meaningful learning It provides educators with an essential text instructing them on how to successfully design and measure the content they teach Covering a wide range of topics such as blended learning online interaction and learning assessment this reference work is ideal for teachers instructional designers curriculum developers policymakers administrators academicians researchers practitioners and students Developing and Supporting

Multiculturalism and Leadership Development Enakshi Sengupta,Patrick Blessinger,Mandla Makhanya,2020-09-23 The modern notion of humanism centres on the core qualities in all humans agency dignity and development primarily concerned with addressing contemporary human needs concerns and problems This book has an interdisciplinary focus on the development of human capacity at all levels with the view that higher education is well suited for all
