2016 University Of Pretoria Prospectus:

Hidden Pretoria Johan Swart, 2019-10-01 Despite being South Africa's capital city Pretoria has often played a supporting role to bold and brash Johannesburg and Cape Town's cosmopolitan charms. However, when it comes to architectural heritage, the Jacaranda City is well endowed. From the skyline dominating Union Buildings and Voortrekker Monument to the imposing edifices of its administrative precincts, Pretoria might be deserving of a second moniker: the city of sandstone brick and granite. But when you look beyond the impressive facades, soaring columns and linear planes of buildings that were intended to convey power and authority, you will find light-filled interiors embellished with decorative touches that are only hinted at from the outside. Murals, mosaics, domes, galleries, stained glass windows, gleaming brass, and impressive woodwork are often hidden from view behind doors that are closed to the public. And even those museums, buildings, and places of worship that are open to all have noteworthy architectural and design features that are easily overlooked. The history of the city and of the country has been played out in many of the buildings featured in Hidden Pretoria. This book captures facets of our diverse heritage, historic and contemporary, so that a new generation might recognise the need to embrace the past in order to build our common future. Recalibrating teacher training in African higher education institutions

Sifiso Sibanda, Gideon (Deon) P. van Tonder, Washington T. Dudu, 2023-03-01 This book critically examines the role of governments in promoting parity during and in post-pandemic education. This comes from the realisation that the pandemic has deepened the crisis by depleting the meagre resources that African countries might have devoted to normative educational practices, where those on the margins would have been pushed further behind while the privileged would have been further initiated into the cultural and capital flows of private schools and historically research-intensive institutions of higher learning. This has far-reaching implications for the education of underprivileged citizens, and education, particularly modes and modalities of delivery, has to be reimagined to subvert the challenges wrought by the pandemic. This book significantly bridges the gap between the pre and post-COVID-19 pandemic pedagogical practices and the erstwhile modalities that have been resilient over time. The book focuses on ways to stave off pedagogical challenges that face countries as the global pandemic makes its mark. Integrating Predation Risk Across Scales: From Neurons to Ecosystems and Milliseconds to Generations

Jacqueline Jeannette Blundell, Evan Preisser, 2020-06-04 Uprooting University Apartheid in South Africa Teresa A. Barnes, 2018-12-07 South Africa continues to be an object of fascination for people everywhere interested in social justice issues, postcolonial studies, and critical race theory, as manifested by the enormous worldwide attention given to the Rhodes Must Fall movement. In this book, Teresa Barnes examines universities' complex positioning in the apartheid era and argues that tracing the institutional legacies left by pro-apartheid intellectuals are crucial to understanding the fight to transform South African higher education. A work of interpretive social history, this book investigates three historical dynamics in the relationship between the apartheid system and South African higher education First it explores how the legitimacy of apartheid was historically reproduced in public higher education Second it looks at ways that academics maneuvered through and influenced national and international discourses of political freedom and legitimacy Third it explores how and where stubborn tendrils of apartheid era knowledge production practices survived into and have been combatted during the democratic era in South African universities Open and Distance Learning in

Developmentalism, Dependency, and the State: Industrial Development and Economic Change in Namibia since 1900 Christopher Hope, 2020-09-23 Why does Namibia's economy look the way it does today Was the reliance on raw materials for exports and on the service sector for employment an inevitability And for what reasons has the manufacturing sector the vehicle for economic development for many now high income countries throughout the 19th and 20th centuries seen its growth held back With these questions in mind this book offers an extensive analysis of industrial development and economic change in Namibia since 1900 exploring their causes trajectory vicissitudes context and politics Its focus is particularly on the motivations behind the economic decisions of the state arguing that power relations both internationally and domestically have held firm a status quo that has resisted efforts towards profound economic change This work is the first in depth economic study covering both the colonial and independence eras of Namibia's history and provides the first history of the country's manufacturing sector

Higher Education - Reflections From the Field - Volume 1, 2023-11-02 COVID wrought havoc on the world's economic systems Higher education did not escape the ravages brought on by the pandemic as institutions of higher education around the world faced major upheavals in their educational delivery systems Some institutions were prepared for the required transition to online learning Most were not Whether prepared or not educators rose to the challenge The innovativeness of educators met the challenges as digital learning replaced the face to face environment In fact some of the distance models proved so engaging that many students no longer desire a return to the face to face model As with all transitions some things were lost while others were gained This book examines practice in the field as institutions struggled to face the worst global pandemic in the last century The book is organized into four sections on The Perspectives of Higher Education COVID as a Catalyst for Change Embracing Online Learning as a Response to COVID and Post Covid The Way Forward It presents various perspectives from educators around the world to illustrate the struggles and triumphs of those facing new challenges and implementing new ideas to empower the educational process These discussions shed light on the impact of the pandemic and the future of higher education post COVID Higher education has been forever changed and higher education as it once was may never return While many questions arise the achievements in meeting and overcoming the pandemic illustrate the creativity and innovativeness of educators around the world who inspired future generations of learners to reach new heights of accomplishment even in the face of the pandemic

Innovating Counseling for Self- and Career Construction Jacobus Gideon (Kobus) Maree, 2020-06-29 This book sets out to provide context for innovating counseling for self and career construction It gives readers insight into the theory underlying an innovative integrative qualitative quantitative approach to career counseling Three key ideas recur throughout the book First the idea of not dispensing advice to people instead enabling them to advise themselves Second the idea of listening for instead of to people's stories to help them choose and construct careers and themselves and shape their career identities Third the idea of helping people connect what they know about themselves consciously with what they are aware of subconsciously The book confronts some of the main challenges posed by Work 4.0 on the workplace but also foreshadows the imminent advent of Work 5.0 It endeavors to promote career counselors ability to help people thrive at a time when many speculate that work itself is at risk occupational contexts no longer hold workers in the way they used to and the coronavirus pandemic is disrupting the workplace

Planning By Law and Property Rights Reconsidered Barrie Needham, Thomas Hartmann, 2016-04-22 Countries which take spatial planning seriously should take planning law and property rights also seriously There is an unavoidable logical relationship between planning law and property rights However planning by law and property rights is so familiar and taken for granted that we do not think about the theory behind it As a result we do not think abstractly about its strengths and weaknesses about what can be achieved with it and what not how it can be improved how it could be complemented Such reflections are essential to cope with current and future challenges to spatial planning This book makes the often implicit theory behind planning by law and property rights explicit and relates it to those challenges It starts by setting out what is understood by planning by law and property rights and investigates theoretically and by game simulation the relationships between planning law and property rights It then places planning law and property rights within their institutional setting at three different scales when a country undergoes enormous social and political change when there is fundamental political debate about the power of the state within a country and when a country changes its legislation in response to European policy Not only changing institutions but also global environmental change pose huge challenges for spatial planning The book discusses how planning by law and property rights can respond to those challenges by adaptive planning by adaptable property rights and by public policies at the appropriate geographical level Planning by law and property rights can fix a local regime of property rights which turns out to be inappropriate but difficult to change It questions whether such regimes can be changed and whether planning agencies can make such undesirable lock ins less likely by reducing market uncertainty and if so by what means

Organise or Die? Raphaël Botiveau, 2017-12-01 The story of one of the leading trade unions in South Africa the National Union of Mineworkers and its role in the struggle against white minority rule Organise or Die Democracy and Leadership in South Africa's National Union of Mineworkers NUM is the first in depth study of one of the leading trade unions in the country Founded in 1982 the trade union played a key role in the struggle against white minority rule before turning into a central protagonist of the ruling Tripartite Alliance after apartheid Deftly navigating through workerist social movement and political terrains that shape the South African labour landscape this book sheds light on the path that led to the unprecedented 2012 Marikana massacre the dissolution of the Congress of South African Trade Unions Cosatu federation and to fractures within the African National Congress ANC itself Working with the notions of organisational agency and strategic bureaucratisation Rapha l Botiveau shows how the founding leadership of NUM built their union s structures with a view to mirror those of the multinational mining companies NUM faced Good leadership proved key to the union s success in recruiting and uniting mineworkers and NUM became an impressive school for union and political cadres producing a number of South Africa s top post apartheid leaders An incisive analysis of leadership styles and strategies shows how the fragile balance between an increasingly distant leadership and an increasingly militant membership gradually broke down Botiveau provides a compelling narrative of NUM s powerful history and the legacy of its leadership It will appeal to a broad readership including journalists students and social sciences scholars interested in South Africa s contemporary politics and labour history Business History of Hospitals in the 20th Century

Paloma Fernández Pérez,2024-06-14 This book offers a business history of modern hospitals in the 20th century Presenting case studies from around the world it examines the long term institutional and historical evolution of hospital organization and management models applying a business history approach to do so Drawing on reports from international organizations and other historical data it explores the evolution path dependencies actors and institutions that have shaped the diversity of hospital organization and management models At the same time it analyzes the historical origins of major problems faced by today s hospitals such as cost inefficiencies lack of specialized human capital etc The contributing authors cover topics such as the history of hospital finance and accounting hospital price regulation entrepreneurship models hospital privatization and hospital governance The book will appeal to scholars and students of economic and business history and to anyone interested in the history of hospitals Pursuing Justice in Africa Jessica Johnson,George Hamandishe Karekwaivanane,2018-10-31

Pursuing Justice in Africa focuses on the many actors pursuing many visions of justice across the African continent their aspirations divergent practices and articulations of international and vernacular idioms of justice The essays selected by editors Jessica Johnson and George Hamandishe Karekwaivanane engage with topics at the cutting edge of contemporary scholarship across a wide range of disciplines These include activism land tenure international legal institutions and postconflict reconciliation Building on recent work in sociolegal studies that foregrounds justice over and above concepts such as human rights and legal pluralism the contributors grapple with alternative approaches to the concept of justice and its relationships with law morality and rights While the chapters are grounded in local experiences they also attend to the ways in which national and international actors and processes influence for better or worse local experiences and understandings of justice The result is a timely and original addition to scholarship on a topic of major scholarly and pragmatic interest Contributors Felicitas Becker Jonathon L Earle Patrick Hoenig Stacey Hynd Fred Nyongesa Ikanda Ngeyi Ruth Kanyongolo Anna Macdonald Bernadette Malunga Alan Msosa Benson A Mulemi Holly Porter Duncan Scott Olaf Zenker

Identity Construction and Tourism Consumption Erdal Arslan,İnci Oya Coşkun,2022-10-26 This book explores how identity plays a pivotal role in tourism consumption Almost all tourism related consumption studies underestimate or refer inadequately to identity's relationship with tourism consumption. As identity phenomenon is considerably a new subject in the tourism literature, this book examines its relationship with the consumption theory. It is of interest to readers curious about how pre, during and post consumption activities affect a person's identity and vice versa. This book contains an analysis of consumption theories and a summary of literature identifying the phenomenon's evolution through pre-modern, modern and post-modern periods. In this context, this book aims to enlighten the interactions between identity construction and tourism consumption. The grounded theory, one of the qualitative research approaches, was applied to accomplish the relevant purpose, and in-depth interviews were recruited following the method approach stages to enable the researchers to gain new insights into the subject. By presenting the identity-tended tourism consumption model, this book provides a set of profound contributions to the relevant literature and insight for practitioners, decision makers and entrepreneurs. This book attempts to clarify the tourists' consumption process and understand how the interactions between identity construction and tourism consumption work. The qualitative methodology grounded theory allows in-depth analysis and insights of the participants of the study on their definitions of themselves as human beings and as tourists' decisions on their travel plans, their considerations, motivations to travel and destination preferences, interactions with others, vacation activities, evaluations on their travel experiences, et cetera. Therefore, this book appeals to readers of marketing, business operations, sociology and economics.

Decolonising Media and Communication Studies Education in Sub-Saharan Africa Selina Linda Mudavanhu, Shepherd Mpofu, Kezia Batisai, 2023-10-27. The book provides insights on decolonising media and communication studies education from diverse African scholars at different stages of their careers. These academics located on the continent and in the diaspora share an interest in decolonising higher education broadly and media and communication studies teaching and learning in particular. Although many African countries gained flag independence from different European colonial powers between the 1950s and the 1970s, this book argues that former colonies remain ensnared in a colonial power matrix. Many African universities did not jettison ways of teaching and learning established during colonialism, and even those journalism, communication and media studies training programmes which were established after the attainment of flag independence did not place decolonial agendas at the front and centre when setting them up. Starting with big picture thematic questions around decolonisation, the book goes on to consider what the implications of change would be for students and instructors before reflecting on how far it is possible to decolonise curricula and syllabi and what this might look like in practice across a range of subject areas and country contexts. Overall, this book presents a nuanced picture of what a decolonised media and communication studies education could look like in sub-Saharan Africa. This book is essential for researchers in Africa in disciplines such as media and communication studies, journalism, film studies, cultural studies and higher education studies. More broadly, the concepts and ideas on decolonising teaching and learning discussed in the book are relevant to instructors in any discipline who are interested in doing the decolonial work of contesting coloniality.
