HOW FAR DID THE SUPERPOWERS ACT RESPONSIBLY OVER CUBA?

Study the Background information and the sources carefully, and then answer all the questions.

Background information

Ever since the Cuban Revolution in 1959 when Castro took over control of Cuba and began to turn the country towards communism and the Soviet Union, Cuba had been a concern for the United States and a source of tension with the Soviet Union. Even after supporting the failed invasion in 1961 by Cuban exiles, the United States continued to plan an economic blockade of Cuba and another invasion. Meanwhile, the Soviet Union poured economic help, troops and armaments into Cuba. It claimed this was to defend Cuba.

On the morning of Sunday 14 October 1962, a U-2 spy plane photographed Soviet missile sites under construction in Cuba. For two weeks, until the crisis ended on 28 October, many feared that the world was on the brink of a nuclear war.

Did the actions of America and Russia during the crisis make the situation worse or did they act in a sensible manner? How reasonably did the superpowers act over Cuba?

SOURCE A

Within the past week, unmistakable evidence has established the fact that a series of offensive missile sites is now in preparation on Cuba. The purpose of these bases can be none other than to provide a nuclear strike capability against the Western Hemisphere. Turning Cuba into an important strategic base is an open threat to the peace and security of the Americas. This action contradicts the repeated promises of Soviet spokesmen that the arms build-up in Cuba would be defensive. Our objective must be to prevent the use of these missiles against this or any other country, and to secure their withdrawal from the Western Hemisphere. Only last Thursday the Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko told me that Soviet assistance to Cuba was, and I quote, 'only for the purpose of contributing to the defence of Cuba'.

Acting in our own defence and of the entire Western world, I have directed that a strict quarantine on all offensive military equipment under shipment to Cuba be started. All ships, if found to contain cargoes of offensive weapons, will be turned back.

Our goal is both peace and freedom around the world.

From a speech on television to the American people by President Kennedy, 22 October 1962.
