Improving Aviation Performance through Applying Engineering Psychology Michael A. Vidulich, Pamela S. Tsang, 2019-02-11

Aviation remains one of the most active and challenging domains for human factors and applied psychology Since 1981 the biennial International Symposium on Aviation Psychology ISAP has convened for the purposes of presenting the latest research on human performance problems and opportunities within aviation systems b envisioning design solutions that best utilize human capabilities for creating safe and efficient aviation systems and c the bringing together of scientists research sponsors and operators in an effort to bridge the gap between research and application Based upon the potential impact of emerging trends current debates or enduring issues presented at the 19th ISAP select authors were invited to expand on their work following the benefit of interactions at the symposium The authors include leading scientists prominent researchers and aviation operators contributing to the discussion of the most pressing technical challenges and research priorities Visions for the incorporation of new interface technologies within next generation cockpits tools for future air traffic control research neuroergonomic findings in aviation settings and human limitations affecting safety are offered The aim of these volumes is to report the latest findings in aviation psychology and to suggest new directions for advancing the field

FEATURES Bridges the gap between aviation psychology research and real world challenges Includes work of the distinguished researchers and seasoned practitioners with select contributions reflecting significant developments in aviation psychology Reports on the latest findings in aviation psychology and suggests new directions for advancing the field Contains work on perceptual and cognitive influences on performance the impact of advanced modeling techniques and the potential of neuroergonomics

Training and Simulation Shem Malmquist, Dennis A. Vincenzi, Shawn Pruchnicki, Katherine Lemos, 2025-09-16

Developing training and simulation is a complex business From understanding human performance design usability and the limitations of training types to considerations with virtual reality VR producing realistic scenarios and even helping accident investigations leaves the practitioner with almost an overwhelming challenge However they know that their goal is to cut out developing methods that can train and test the sharp end professional to be ready for any eventuality whether in the air a chemical plant or the operating room Through chapters written by leading experts this book aims to address the key questions and concerns when developing training and simulation in high risk industries This book identifies unexplored challenges and weaknesses in the aviation domain including ground based training and flight simulation compared to the real world of in flight complex aircraft operations aviation accidents and incidents airspace and air traffic control aeronautical communications air navigation aircraft automation and pilot certification and testing These concerns are not just relevant to aviation however This book pushes beyond aviation to include other fields including petrochemical and medicine that while on the surface are different include some of the same human and organizational challenges It integrates machine challenges with human factors science and includes a view of the corporate influences on training Safety is a consideration in all the challenges and current limitations in training and simulation and the book is written with the intention of improving both training and safety as industries deal with more and more complex advanced technology Underpinned by case studies and real life examples this book will give the reader a thorough overview of the limitations of current training methods but with a view to improving and developing better methods for future training scenarios Opportunities and solutions are presented for current or future research and the application and incorporation of these in day day operations Training and Simulation Processes Challenges and Solutions will appeal to practitioners of human factors training pilots and ground operators engineers involved in systems design safety specialists test evaluators and accident investigators across multiple domains

A Bank of Last Resort Bill Diffenderffer, 2009-08 As a new President takes office in Washington the country is reeling from an economy that is approaching depths not seen since the Great Depression The financial industry is in trouble and the new administration is insisting that the largest banks all participate in the Federal Bailout program Jace Orren CEO of one of those banks doesn't believe his bank needs the bailout and refuses to take it Under the direction of McMillan a very powerful behind the scenes advisor to the President the government tries through direct and indirect means to force Jace to go along with the President's plans In the struggle between this Machiavellian advisor and Jace Orren the banking automobile and airline industries all become involved in a battle setting the powers of an intrusive and controlling government against the ideals of free market capitalism Bill has been an attorney who has lead billion dollar financial transactions a Partner in IBM's Business Consulting Services Group where he was a leader of its global travel and transportation practice a professor who taught MBA classes and the CEO of two travel technology companies one of which was then the world's third largest provider of computer reservation systems for the travel industry In 2005 as CEO he started up the ultra low cost Skybus Airlines He also is the author of The Samurai Leader Winning Business Battles with the Wisdom Honor and Courage of the Samurai Code That book is selling worldwide and has been translated into eight other languages His goal is to become the wise old man sitting under a palm tree at a beach offering advice on the meaning of life to anyone who'll pay him a dollar
