Data Cultures in Higher Education Juliana E. Raffaghelli, Albert Sangrà, 2023-03-07 This collection focuses on the role of higher education institutions concerning datafication as a complex phenomenon. It explores how the universities can develop data literacies, shaping tomorrow's skills and formae mentis to face the most deleterious effects of datafication but also to engage in creative and constructive ways with data. Notably, the book spots data practices within the two most relevant sides of academics: professional practice, namely research and teaching. Hence, the collection seeks to reflect on faculty's professional learning about data infrastructures and practices. The book draws on a range of studies covering the higher education response to the several facets of data in society, from data surveillance and the algorithmic control of human behaviour to empowerment through the use of open data. The research reported ranges from literature overviews to multi-case and in-depth case studies illustrating institutional and educational responses to different problems connected to data. The ultimate intention is to provide conceptual bases and practical examples relating to universities' faculty development policies to overcome data practices and discourses' fragmentation and contradictions in a nutshell to build fair data cultures in higher education.

Peer Pedagogies on Digital Platforms Michael Dezuanni, 2020-09-22 How a popular entertainment genre on YouTube, Let's Play videos created by Minecraft players, offers opportunities for children to learn from their peers. Every day millions of children around the world watch video gameplay on YouTube in the form of a popular entertainment genre known as Let's Play videos. These videos, which present a player's gameplay and commentary, offer children opportunities for interaction and learning not available in traditional television viewing or solo video gameplay. In this book, Michael Dezuanni examines why Let's Play videos are so appealing to children, looking in particular at videos of Minecraft gameplay. He finds that a significant aspect of the popularity of these videos is the opportunity for knowledge and skill exchange. Focusing on Let's Play practices, the videos themselves and fans' responses, Dezuanni argues that learning takes place through what he terms peer pedagogy, a type of nonhierarchical learning that is grounded in the personal relationships fans and players feel toward one another.

Moreover the Let's Play platform is part of a larger digital ecosystem that enables children to learn from one another in unique ways Dezuanni explores how Let's Players enable learning opportunities examining digital literacies the Let's Play genre and peer pedagogies He then presents case studies of three successful family friendly Let's Players of Minecraft Stampylonghead StacyPlays and KarinaOMG microcelebrities in a microindustry Dezuanni analyzes the specific practices and characteristics of these players paying particular attention to how they create opportunities for peer pedagogies to emerge

The Cambridge Companion to K-Pop Suk-Young Kim, 2023-03-09 How did Korea with a relatively small scale music industry come to create a vibrant pop culture scene that would enthrall not only young Asian fans but also global audiences from diverse racial and generational backgrounds From idol training to fan engagement from studio recording to mastering choreographic sequences what are the steps that go into the actual production and promotion of K pop And how can we account for K pop's global presence within the rapidly changing media environment and consumerist culture in the new millennium As an informed guide for finding answers to these questions The Cambridge Companion to K Pop probes the complexities of K pop as both a music industry and a transnational cultural scene It investigates the meteoric ascent of K pop against the backdrop of increasing global connectivity wherein a distinctive model of production and consumption is closely associated with creativity and futurity Raising Confident and Empowered Children Barrett Williams, ChatGPT, 2025-10-03
