

SCIENCE IN EVERYDAY LIFE ESSAY

Science is present all around us, from the smallest things such as needles to large objects such as aeroplanes. Science is also an essential part of our everyday lives because it helps us solve everyday problems, enhances our health, and helps society progress.

Science has taken the foremost place in human life. Every branch of science can be seen all around us. Computer Science can be seen in mobile phones, smartwatches and computers; Medical Science is there in the medicines we take; Communication in today's world is hardly possible without applying laws of physics.

Science primarily exists around us in the form of nature. It is there in all sorts of phenomena such as the movement of the earth around the sun, the behaviour of the human body, the scattering of light in our atmosphere etc.

Science influences every aspect of our life. It has an impact on what we eat and drink, where we go to relax, what we wear, what we talk about, etc. It has also made us break the barriers that existed in the past. Thus, Science has enormously contributed to the development of human beings.

The Matrix of Stem Cell Research Christine Hauskeller, Arne Manzeschke, Anja Pichl, 2019-07-25 Stem cell research has been a problematic endeavour For the past twenty years it has attracted moral controversies in both the public and the professional sphere The research involves not only laboratories clinics and people but ethics industries jurisprudence and markets Today it contributes to the development of new therapies and affects increasingly many social arenas The matrix approach introduced in this book offers a new understanding of this science in its relation to society The contributions are multidisciplinary and intersectional illustrating how agency and influence between science and society go both ways Conceptually this volume presents a situated and reflexive approach for philosophy and sociology of the life sciences The practices that are part of stem cell research are dispersed and the concepts that tie them together are tenuous there are persistent problems with the validation of findings and the ontology of the stem cell is elusive The array of applications shapes a growing bioeconomy that is dependent on patient donations of tissues and embryos consumers and industrial support In this volume it is argued that this research now denotes not a specific field but a flexible web of intersecting practices discourses and agencies To capture significant parts of this complex reality this book presents recent findings from researchers who have studied in depth aspects of this matrix of stem cell research This volume presents state of the art examinations from senior and junior scholars in disciplines from humanities and laboratory research to various social sciences highlighting particular normative and epistemological intersections The book will appeal to scholars as well as wider audiences interested in developments in life science and society interactions The novel matrix approach and the accessible case studies make this an excellent resource for science and society courses

Rethinking Environmentalism Sharachchandra Lele, Eduardo S. Brondizio, John Byrne, Georgina M. Mace, Joan Martinez-Alier, 2018-10-09 A multidisciplinary examination of alternative framings of environmental problems with using examples from forest water energy and urban sectors Does being an environmentalist mean caring about wild nature Or is environmentalism synonymous with concern for future human well being or about a fair apportionment of access to the earth's resources and a fair sharing of pollution burdens Environmental problems are undoubtedly one of the most salient public issues of our time yet environmental scholarship and action is marked by a fragmentation of ideas and approaches because of the multiple ways in which these environmental problems are framed Diverse framings prioritize different values and explain problems in various ways thereby suggesting different solutions Are more inclusive framings possible Will this enable more socially relevant impactful research and more concerted action and practice This book takes a multidisciplinary look at these questions using examples from forest water energy and urban sectors It explores how different forms of environmentalism are shaped by different normative and theoretical positions and attempts to bridge these divides Individual perspectives are complemented by comprehensive syntheses of the differing framings in each sector By self reflectively exploring how researchers study and mobilize evidence about environmental problems the book opens up the possibility of alternative framings to advance collaborative and integrated understanding of environmental problems and sustainability challenges
