Adorno, Foucault and the Critique of the West Deborah Cook, 2018-11-27 The alliance of critical theory between Frankfurt and Paris Adorno Foucault and the Critique of the West argues that critical theory continues to offer valuable resources for critique and contestation during this turbulent period To assess these resources it examines the work of two of the twentieth century's more prominent social theorists Theodor W Adorno and Michel Foucault Although Adorno was situated squarely in the Marxist tradition that Foucault would occasionally challenge Deborah Cook demonstrates that their critiques of our current predicament are complementary in important respects Among other things these critiques converge in their focus on the historical conditions economic in Adorno and political in Foucault that gave rise to the racist and authoritarian tendencies that continue to blight the West Cook also shows that when Adorno and Foucault plumb the economic and political forces that have shaped our identities they offer remarkably similar answers to the perennial question What is to be done

Emotional States Eleanor Jupp, Jessica Pykett, Fiona M. Smith, 2016-10-14

What is the political allure value and currency of emotions within contemporary cultures of governance What does it mean to govern more humanely Since the emergence of an emotional turn in human geography over the last decade the notion that our emotions matter in understanding an array of social practices spatial formations and aspects of everyday life is no longer seen as controversial This book brings recent developments in emotional geography into dialogue with social policy concerns and contemporary issues of governance It sets the intellectual scene for research into the geographical dimensions of the emotionalized states of the citizen policy maker and public service worker and highlights new research on the emotional forms of governance which now characterise public life An international range of empirical field studies are used to examine issues of regulation modification governance and potential manipulation of emotional affects professional and personal identities and political technologies Contributors provide analysis of the role of emotional entanglements in policy strategy policy implementation service delivery citizenship and participation as well as considering the emotional nature of the research process itself It will be of interest to researchers and students within social policy human geography politics and related disciplines
