The Delusion of Knowledge Transfer Susanne Koch, Peter Weingart, 2016-12-13 With the rise of the knowledge for development paradigm expert advice has become a prime instrument of foreign aid At the same time it has been object of repeated criticism the chronic failure of technical assistance a notion under which advice is commonly subsumed has been documented in a host of studies Nonetheless international organisations continue to send advisors promising to increase the effectiveness of expert support if their technocratic recommendations are taken up This book reveals fundamental problems of expert advice in the context of aid that concern issues of power and legitimacy rather than merely flaws of implementation Based on empirical evidence from South Africa and Tanzania the authors show that aid related advisory processes are inevitably obstructed by colliding interests political pressures and hierarchical relations that impede knowledge transfer and mutual learning As a result recipient governments find themselves caught in a perpetual cycle of dependency continuously advised by experts who convey the shifting paradigms and agendas of their respective donor governments For young democracies the persistent presence of external actors is hazardous ultimately it poses a threat to the legitimacy of their governments if their policy making becomes more responsive to foreign demands than to the preferences and needs of their citizens

African Borders, Conflict, Regional and Continental Integration Innocent Moyo, Christopher Changwe Nshimbi, 2019-04-25 This book looks at the ways African borders impact war and conflict as well as the ways continental integration could contribute towards cooperation peace and well being in Africa African borders or borderlands can be a source of problems and opportunity There is often a historical geospatial and geopolitical architecture rooted in trajectories of war conflict and instability which could be transformed into those of peace regional and continental integration and development An example is the cross border and regional response to the Boko Haram insurgency in West Africa This book engages with cross border forms of cooperation and opportunity in Africa It considers initiatives and innovations which can be put in place or are already being employed on the ground within the current regional and continental integration projects Another important element is that of cross border informality which similarly provides a ready resource that if properly harnessed and regulated could unleash the development potential of African borders and borderlands Students and scholars within Geography International Relations and Border Studies will find this book useful It will also benefit civil society practitioners policymakers and activists in the NGO sector interested in issues such as migration social cohesion citizenship and local development Joshua Mqabuko Nkomo of Zimbabwe Sabelo J. Ndlovu-Gatsheni,2017-08-17 This book is a pioneering study of Joshua Mqabuko Nkomo a Zimbabwean nationalist whose crucial role in the country s anti colonial struggle has largely gone unrecognized These essays trace his early influence on Zimbabwean nationalism in the late 1950s and his leadership in the armed liberation movement and postcolonial national building processes as well as his denigration by the winners of the 1980 elections Mugabe s Zimbabwe African National Union Patriotic Front The Nkomo that emerges is complex and contested the embodiment of Zimbabwe s tortured trajectory from colony to independent postcolonial state This is an essential corrective to the standard history of twentieth century Zimbabwe and an invaluable resource for scholars of African nationalist liberation movements and nation building

Disaster Risks and Hazards Rosemary Kasimba,Innocent Chirisa,2025-07-18 This book discusses disaster risks and hazards as well as measures to increase people s resilience The 21st Century has experienced a number of disasters that resulted in hampering socio economic development the loss of lives and property hence they are a threat to sustainable development Disaster risk management efforts and practices have failed to arrest the underlying drivers of increased global risk No country is immune to disaster risk thus resilience has become a critical component of disaster management It provides an opportunity to confront the social ecological foundations of disasters However it has been vaguely conceptualised and lacks a concrete approach to operationalization Some developing countries are gradually coming to realise that preparedness hazard mapping prediction risk and vulnerability assessment and planning are critical for increasing resilience and reducing losses following disasters A paradigm shift is required from reactionary to proactive measures in disaster management as the later focuses more on increasing the resilience of the community Zimbabwe s disaster management policy of 1979 is in the process of review following Cyclone Idai in March 2019 and the Corona Virus 19 COVID 19 Furthermore the consequences of climate change disaster are being felt with across the world particularly developing countries whose preparatory measures for such disasters are inadequate Disasters have become inevitable and no country is every country is vulnerable to them In the event of these disasters the vulnerable people are at risk and are affected more as majority of them are not able to cope In developed countries measures are in place to assist the vulnerable in the event that a disaster strikes However Zimbabwe being a developing country is not able to deal with unpredictable disasters due to lack of resources hence the need for it to adopt mitigatory and transformative measures to reduce the impact of any form of disasters The State of African Cities, 2014 United Nations Human Settlements Programme,2013 Nairobi UN Habitat c2014 9789211325980 Turning Water into a Commodity Christiane Tristl,2025-07-31 Pay as you go water dispensers are used in many areas in the Global South particularly those that are off grid This book examines the increasing influence of private corporations and philanthrocapitalist principles in development cooperation in the SDG era by focusing on water supply to the inhabitants of rural and peri urban areas of Kenya The book explores how private sector approaches and digital technologies open up remote regions to permanent arrangements of transnational market based water supply beyond state sovereignty which define their users as paying customers Considering these technological solutions alongside socio political realities and local knowledge it offers a nuanced perspective on the promises and limitations of market based interventions in the water sector Yearbook of International Organizations 2014-2015, Volumes 1a & 1b (Set) Union of International

Associations,2014-06-16 Volume 1 A and B covers international organizations throughout the world comprising their aims activities and events Environmental Impacts of Transnational Corporations in the Global South Paul Cooney,William Sacher,2018-11-30 This volume explores the impact of Transnational Corporations TNCs on the environment of the Global South during this period of neoliberal globalization It develops themes around transnational extractive activity the impact of transnational capital on indigenous populations and the role played by international institutions Achieving sustainable cultivation of maize Volume 1 Dr Dave Watson,2017-06-09 Reviews key challenges and advances in maize breeding methods Discusses the development of varieties with enhanced nutritional and other properties such as improved protein content and abiotic stress resistance Summarises key steps being taken to support smallholders growing maize in developing countries

Integrated management of the Fall Armyworm on maize Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2018-07-02 Fall armyworm Spodoptera frugiperda FAW a dangerous transboundary pest native to the Americas has been spreading rapidly to all sub regions of Africa since 2016 causing significant yield losses to crops Farmer education and community action are critical elements in the strategy to best manage FAW populations using an integrated and ecological pest management approach Farmer Field School FFS a holistic farmer education approach used in over 90 countries will be a key component of the response effort This guide seeks to provide guidance on how to conduct FFS on the integrated and sustainable management of the FAW in Africa with emphasis on maize as FAW s preferred host plant It provides information on the biology and ecology of FAW field studies and exercises for use in season long FFS and suggestions on how to build a training programme for rural advisory services extension on FAW and FFS refresher courses of Master Trainers and Facilitators Advances in Farm Animal Genomic Resources Stéphane Joost,Michael W. Bruford,Ino Curik,Juha Kantanen,Johannes A. Lenstra,Johann Sölkner,Göran Andersson,Philippe V. Baret,Nadine Buys,Jutta Roosen,Michèle Tixier-Boichard,Paolo Ajmone Marsan,2016-01-28 The history of livestock started with the domestication of their wild ancestors a restricted number of species allowed to be tamed and entered a symbiotic relationship with humans In exchange for food shelter and protection they provided us with meat eggs hides wool and draught power thus contributing considerably to our economic and cultural development Depending on the species domestication took place in different areas and periods After domestication livestock spread over all inhabited regions of the earth accompanying human migrations and becoming also trade objects This required an adaptation to different climates and varying styles of husbandry and resulted in an enormous phenotypic diversity Approximately 200 years ago the situation started to change with the rise of the concept of breed Animals were selected for the same visible characteristics and crossing with different phenotypes was reduced This resulted in the formation of different breeds mostly genetically isolated from other populations A few decades ago selection pressure was increased again with intensive production focusing on a limited range of types and a subsequent loss of genetic diversity For short term economic reasons farmers have abandoned traditional breeds As a consequence during the 20th century at least 28% of farm animal breeds became extinct rare or endangered The situation is alarming in developing countries where native breeds adapted to local environments and diseases are being replaced by industrial breeds In the most marginal areas farm animals are considered to be essential for viable land use and in the developing world a major pathway out of poverty Historic documentation from the period before the breed formation is scarce Thus reconstruction of the history of livestock populations depends on archaeological archeo zoological and DNA analysis of extant populations Scientific research into genetic diversity takes advantage of the rapid advances in molecular genetics Studies of mitochondrial DNA microsatellite DNA profiling and Y chromosomes have revealed details on the process of domestication on the diversity retained by breeds and on relationships between breeds However we only see a small part of the genetic information and the advent of new technologies is most timely in order to answer many essential questions High throughput single nucleotide polymorphism genotyping is about to be available for all major farm animal species The recent development of sequencing techniques calls for new methods of data management and analysis and for new ideas for the extraction of information To make sense of this information in practical conditions integration of geo environmental and socio economic data are key elements The study and management of farm animal genomic resources FAnGR is indeed a major multidisciplinary issue The goal of the present Research Topic was to collect contributions of high scientific quality relevant to biodiversity management and applying new methods to either new genomic and bioinformatics approaches for characterization of FAnGR to the development of FAnGR conservation methods applied ex situ and in situ to socio economic aspects of FAnGR conservation to transfer of lessons between wildlife and livestock biodiversity conservation and to the contribution of FAnGR to a transition in agriculture FAnGR and agro ecology business the impact of social media and digital marketing on new agritourism destinations This volume will be of pivotal interest to students researchers and scholars of Tourism African Studies and Development Studies Climate Change 2014 – Impacts, Adaptation and Vulnerability: Part A: Global and Sectoral Aspects: Volume 1, Global and Sectoral Aspects Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC),2014-12-29 This latest Fifth Assessment Report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC will again form the standard reference for all those concerned with climate change and its consequences including students researchers and policy makers in environmental science meteorology climatology biology ecology atmospheric chemistry and environmental policy The World of Science Education Femi S. Otulaja,Meshach B. Oggunniyi,2017-09-12 Each volume in the 7 volume series The World of Science Education reviews research in a key region of the world These regions include North America South and Latin America Asia Australia and New Zealand Europe and Israel North Africa and the Middle East and Sub Saharan Africa The focus of this Handbook is on research in science education in mostly former British colonies in Sub Saharan Africa and the scholarship that most closely support this program The reviews of the research situate what has been accomplished within a given field in Sub Saharan Africa rather than an international context The purpose therefore is to articulate and exhibit regional networks and trends that produced specific forms of science education The thrust lies in identifying the roots of research programs and sketching trajectories focusing the changing face of problems and solutions within regional contexts The approach allows readers to review what has been done and accomplished what is missing and what might be done next Agriculture, Autonomous Development, and Prospects for Industrialization in Africa Emmanuel Ndhlovu,2025-03-06 The book investigates the intersection of agriculture and development in Africa and how it impacts rural industrialisation prospects It provides a comprehensive view of the position of agriculture in African socio economic activities and the agricultural sector's potential as the source for continental development and industrialisation prospects Significant research has been done on African development with a focus placed on the problematic role played by slavery colonialism and later by incompetent African leaders who failed to steer development of the type that delivers a progressive sustained and sustainable transformation of lives and societies There is limited focus on the possibility of agriculture being the potential basis of African development and the chance for industrialisation This is a matter of concern considering the dominance of agriculture as a livelihood and income source for many people on the continent In contributing to the debate on development in Africa this book aims to show how agriculture can serve as the basis for African development and industrialisation This will be achieved by i providing a detailed historical description of the position of agriculture in African socio economic activities ii outlining the trajectory of African development with a focus on agriculture innovation and mechanisation iii identifying challenges to the development of African agriculture iv exploring the opportunities for agricultural development in Africa and v providing practical and policy recommendations to improve African agriculture and make it the engine for development and industrialisation Utilising a multidisciplinary approach which combines political economy social policy financial inclusion and empowerment approaches the book also shows how engagement of youth and women digitalisation and the provision of support by public and private actors can jump start agriculture as the engine of African development and industrialisation Taken together with this conscious effort to promote a multi disciplinary discussion the book is valuable reading for students policymakers and activists interested in emerging new directions in African development thinking and research

Paradigms and Theories Influencing Policies in the South African and International Water Sectors Richard Meissner, 2016-11-12 This book presents a new way of looking at and analyzing policies programs and or plans in which research scientists have used their knowledge to develop mechanisms such as South Africa s National Water Resource Strategy Second Edition Australian and South African climate change adaptation strategies for government entities and the UNDP s Water and Ocean Governance focus area It critically assesses how science can be used in the service of society and how researchers and practitioners can bridge the gaps that arise as a result of incomplete thinking Presenting a bird s eye view of how thinking and understanding operate in the policy context it offers a valuable contribution to fields of inquiry such as research methods comparative analyses political science international relations and the natural and social sciences in general This book fills a market gap providing real world solutions to the practical application of science paradigms and theories
