Global Mindsets John Kuada, 2016-04-28 Global Mindsets seeks to tackle a topic that is relatively new in research and practice and is considered by many to be critical for firms seeking to conduct global business It argues that multiple mindsets exist across and within organizations that they operate in a global context and that they are dynamic and undergo change and action Part of the mindset s may depend upon place situation and context where individuals and organizations operate The book examines the notion of mindset is situational and dynamic especially in a global setting why it is important for future scholars and managers and how it could be conceptualized The book includes conceptual chapters that push the current boundaries of research on the topic and empirical chapters that demonstrate how different organizations in different countries apply mindset perspectives in their management practices It seeks to help academics consultants and researchers understand what has been said and studied about global mindsets in action and gain insights into possible directions and challenges that the field may face in the future

Innovation in the Asia Pacific Thomas Clarke, Keun Lee, 2017-10-20 This book promotes the creation of advanced knowledge based economies driven by innovation networks and the continuous development of human capital and capability It provides valuable insights into the growing emergence of knowledge based industries of the Asia Pacific and highlights research on modes of creativity and innovation intellectual property the components of national innovation systems such as firms education and training knowledge and technical infrastructure and public policy The Asia Pacific region is currently in the process of transforming from being the manufacturing centre of the global economy to a centre of innovation for the knowledge economy with the successful IPO of Alibaba in 2014 being a prime example of this shift From a neo Schumpeterian perspective the region is increasingly engaged in shortening and intensifying cycles of innovation The historic agreement at the Beijing APEC meeting between China and the US to radically reduce carbon emissions indicates that one imperative of this innovation is to contribute to sustainability The fact that the US Government is moving away from this historic commitment while the Chinese Government is endorsing the commitment indicates an emerging opportunity for Asia to lead the world technologically in a vital industrial sector of the future

Civil Society and the Reform of Finance Charles McDaniel, Jr., 2015-07-16 Efforts to resolve the recent financial crisis have obscured a more deeply rooted financialization crisis that impacts not only the market economy but also the vital civic and moral traditions that support it This book reveals the cultural influence of finance in reshaping the foundations of American civil society and proposes a return to certain first principles of the Republic to restore the nation's economic vision This book demonstrates how funding concerns and financial incentives revalue faith traditions educational institutions non profit organizations and even the nation's healthcare system in ways that are eroding the diversity of American culture These changes also undermine the ethical framework of both democratic government and the free market system While financial influence has diminished the value of civil society this book proposes that revitalized intermediary institutions still offer the best path forward in restoring the financial sector and more broadly enriching the American competitive ethic toward development of a more virtuous economy The book is written for an academic and professional audience offering a blueprint for the involvement of civil society with government in providing more communally integrated oversight that could contribute to a genuine democratization of finance

The UK Regional-National Economic Problem Philip McCann, 2016-03-10 In recent years the United Kingdom has become a more and more divided society with inequality between the regions as marked as it has ever been In a landmark analysis of the current state of Britain's regional development Philip McCann utilises current statistics examines historical trends and makes pertinent international comparisons to assess the state of the nation The UK Regional National Economic Problem brings attention to the highly centralised top down governance structure that the UK deploys and demonstrates that it is less than ideally placed to rectify these inequalities The North South divide in the UK has never been greater and the rising inequalities are evident in almost all aspects of the economy including productivity incomes employment status and wealth Whilst the traditional economic dominance of London and its hinterland has continued along with relative resilience in the South West of England and Scotland in contrast the Midlands the North of England Northern Ireland and Wales lag behind by most measures of prosperity This inequality is greatly limiting national economic performance and the fact that Britain has a below average standard of living by European and OECD terms has been ignored The UK's economic and governance inequality is unlikely to be fundamentally rebalanced by the current governance and connectivity trends although this definitive study suggests that some areas of improvement are possible if they are well implemented This pivotal analysis is essential reading for postgraduate students in economics and urban studies as well as researchers and policy makers in local and central government
