A National Trauma Care System National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Board on the Health of Select Populations, Board on Health Sciences Policy, Committee on Military Trauma Care's Learning Health System and Its Translation to the Civilian Sector, 2016-10-12

Advances in trauma care have accelerated over the past decade spurred by the significant burden of injury from the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq Between 2005 and 2013 the case fatality rate for United States service members injured in Afghanistan decreased by nearly 50 percent despite an increase in the severity of injury among U S troops during the same period of time But as the war in Afghanistan ends knowledge and advances in trauma care developed by the Department of Defense DoD over the past decade from experiences in Afghanistan and Iraq may be lost This would have implications for the quality of trauma care both within the DoD and in the civilian setting where adoption of military advances in trauma care has become increasingly common and necessary to improve the response to multiple civilian casualty events

Intentional steps to codify and harvest the lessons learned within the military s trauma system are needed to ensure a ready military medical force for future combat and to prevent death from survivable injuries in both military and civilian systems This will require partnership across military and civilian sectors and a sustained commitment from trauma system leaders at all levels to assure that the necessary knowledge and tools are not lost

A National Trauma Care System defines the components of a learning health system necessary to enable continued improvement in trauma care in both the civilian and the military sectors This report provides recommendations to ensure that lessons learned over the past decade from the military s experiences in

Afghanistan and Iraq are sustained and built upon for future combat operations and translated into the U S civilian system

World Trade Center Pulmonary Diseases and Multi-Organ System Manifestations Anthony M. Szema, 2017-08-30

This book addresses the pulmonary and non pulmonary manifestations related to exposure to airborne hazards after the collapse of the World Trade Center. Leading experts consider both short and long term effects on survivors, first responders and residents of surrounding areas and offer clinical practice guidelines for treatment. Respiratory complications are the most obvious manifestation but the text additionally covers oncology, psychiatry and other organ systems for both adults and children. Knowledge of the medical ramifications from the World Trade Center collapse has broad scientific applicability to occupational and environmental medicine, preventive medicine and epidemiology. With the advent of bioterrorism since 9/11, understanding prevention, treatment, monitoring and basic and clinical research aspects of particulate matter air pollution is relevant and critically important to being a medical provider. This book will prove useful to pulmonologists, primary care providers, epidemiologists, psychiatrists, occupational and environmental specialists, allergists, immunologists, toxicologists and public policy experts. Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office, 2005

Macropprudential Policies to Enhance Financial Stability in the Caucasus and Central Asia Padamja Khandelwal, Ezequiel

Cabezón, Sanan Mirzayev, Rayah Al-Farah, 2022-03-10. Limited economic diversification has made the economies of the Caucasus and Central Asia particularly vulnerable to external shocks. The economies in the region are heavily reliant on oil and mining exports as well as remittances. In some countries, tourism and capital flows also play a prominent role in aggregate economic activity. Environmental Protection and Disaster Risks (EnviroRisks 2024) Nina Dobrinkova, Stefka Fidanova, 2024-11-15. This book is a comprehensive collection of extended contributions from the 3rd International Conference on Environmental Protection and Disaster Risks and the 12th Annual CMDR COE Conference on Crisis Management and Disaster Response held in the period June 4-6, 2024 in Sofia, Bulgaria as a hybrid participation event. Environmental protection and disaster risk topics are challenging fields that the scientific world is trying to address. Earthquakes, floods, fires, droughts, blizzards, dust storms, natural releases of toxic gases and liquids, diseases and other environmental variations affect hundreds of millions of people each year. Many disaster events are triggered by human activities. Dealing with these problems requires a multidisciplinary scientific approach. Actions in these directions are taken more and more in the recent years by political bodies, NGOs and scientific groups trying to find sustainable solutions for the future generations. Every point of view matters when it comes to our global home, The Planet Earth. This book presents recent advances in the topics: disaster management, natural hazards, risk reduction and building resilience, climate change challenges and security implications, resilience and business continuity management, high performance computing, modeling and simulations, GIS for environmental monitoring and artificial intelligence. The book is focused on important large scale applications like environmental and climate modeling, computational optimizations and algorithms for specific hazard situations, analyses.
