CRREL Report ,1950 Unsaturated Soils, Two Volume Set Eduardo Alonso, Antonio Gens, 2010-09-02 In recent decades the development of unsaturated soil mechanics has been remarkable resulting in momentous advances in fundamental knowledge testing techniques computational procedures prediction methodologies and geotechnical practice The advances have spanned the full spectrum of theory and practice In addition unsaturated materials exhibiting complex behaviour such as residual soils swelling soils compacted soils collapsing soils tropical soils and solid wastes have been integrated in a common understanding of shared behaviour features It is also noteworthy that unsaturated soil mechanics has proved surprisingly fruitful in expanding to other neighbouring areas such as swelling rocks rockfill mechanics and freezing soils As a consequence geotechnical engineering involving unsaturated soils can be now approached from a more rational and systematic perspective leading towards an improved and more effective practice Unsaturated Soils contains the papers presented at the 5th International Conference on Unsaturated Soil Barcelona Spain 6 8 September 2010 They report significant advances in the areas of unsaturated soil behaviour testing techniques constitutive and numerical modelling and applications The areas of application include soil atmosphere interaction foundations slopes embankments pavements geoenviromental problems and emerging topics They are complemented by three keynote lectures and three general reports covering general issues of modelling testing and applications Unsaturated Soils is a comprehensive record of the state of the

Modeling of Mn/ROAD Test Sections with the CRREL Mechanistic Pavement Design Procedure Susan R. Bigl,1996 The U S Army Cold Regions Research and Engineering Laboratory is developing a mechanistic pavement design procedure for use in seasonal frost areas The procedure was used to predict pavement performance of some test sections under construction at the Mn ROAD facility Simulations were conducted in three phases investigating the effects on predictions of water table position subgrade characteristics asphalt model and freeze season characteristics The procedure predicted significantly different performance by the different test sections and highly variable results depending on the performance model applied The simulated performance of the tests sections also was greatly affected by the subgrade conditions e g density soil moisture and water table depth In general predictions for the full depth asphalt sections indicate that they will not fail due to cracking but two of the three criteria for subgrade rutting indicate failure before the five or 10 year design life of the sections Conventional sections are predicted not to fail due to subgrade rutting however sections including the more frost susceptible bases in their design are predicted to fail due to asphalt cracking relatively early in their design life and sections with nonfrost susceptible bases are predicted to fail towards the end of the design life
