profitability: Evidence from tomato traders in Nigeria Aghadi, Crystal N.,Balana, Bedru,Ogunniyi, Adebayo,2020-10-09 Postharvest loss is a major challenge in food production and supply chains in developing countries Using primary data from fresh tomato traders in Lagos Nigeria and endogenous switching econometric modelling this study investigates the effects of reusable plastic containers RPC technology on traders net profits and the factors determining the adoption of the technology Results indicate that the trader s position along the supply chain income level seasonality sales frequency and technology affordability positively influence their adoption decision We found that the use of RPC technology significantly increases traders net profits The counterfactual impact analysis indicates that traders who adopted RPC would have earned 7 percent lower net profits had they not used RPC Conversely non adopters would have increased their net profit by 5 percent had they adopted the technology However heterogenous treatment effects were observed due to heterogeneities among the adopters

Agriculture, Autonomous Development, and Prospects for Industrialization in Africa Emmanuel Ndhlovu,2025-03-06 The book investigates the intersection of agriculture and development in Africa and how it impacts rural industrialisation prospects It provides a comprehensive view of the position of agriculture in African socio economic activities and the agricultural sector's potential as the source for continental development and industrialisation prospects. Significant research has been done on African development with a focus placed on the problematic role played by slavery, colonialism and later by incompetent African leaders who failed to steer development of the type that delivers a progressive, sustained and sustainable transformation of lives and societies. There is limited focus on the possibility of agriculture being the potential basis of African development and the chance for industrialisation. This is a matter of concern considering the dominance of agriculture as a livelihood and income source for many people on the continent. In contributing to the debate on development in Africa, this book aims to show how agriculture can serve as the basis for African development and industrialisation. This will be achieved by i) providing a detailed historical description of the position of agriculture in African socio-economic activities, ii) outlining the trajectory of African development with a focus on agriculture innovation and mechanisation, iii) identifying challenges to the development of African agriculture, iv) exploring the opportunities for agricultural development in Africa and v) providing practical and policy recommendations to improve African agriculture and make it the engine for development and industrialisation. Utilising a multidisciplinary approach which combines political, economy, social, policy, financial inclusion and empowerment approaches, the book also shows how engagement of youth and women, digitalisation and the provision of support by public and private actors can jumpstart agriculture as the engine of African development and industrialisation. Taken together with this conscious effort to promote a multi-disciplinary discussion, the book is valuable reading for students, policymakers and activists interested in emerging new directions in African development thinking and research.

Responsible Reproductive Choice in the 21st Century Malcolm de Roubaix, 2023-01-05. This book systematically traces the development, significance and implications of female reproductive choice. Paramount is the right to safe termination of pregnancy (TOP). In the USA, these rights are under threat after the reversal of Roe v Wade 1973, confirming the eternally contested nature of the pro-life/pro-choice standoff. The approach is unique and from all angles: historical, social, emotional and legal. South African experience is evaluated against a global backdrop. Arguing from an ethics of responsibility, the book presents a justified, balanced, rational and moderate position on the moral acceptability of TOP. It proposes that the morality of TOP be evaluated by balancing inherent foetal moral significance against contingent potentiality, context and circumstance that may determine foetal development. TOP is a choice a woman faces with each pregnancy. It always has moral implications exclusive to the life of the woman. So too do continued pregnancy and parenthood, but these are of greater magnitude and duration.

A youth empowerment model designed to tackle school violence in South Africa Fathima Dewan, 2024-12-17. School-based violence is of major concern in the South African schooling system, particularly in secondary schools. School-based violence has a negative impact on the physical, social, cognitive and emotional well-being of learners and teachers. To compound matters, family and community environment also play a role in escalating school violence. There is a need to develop interventions that are evidence-based and developmental.

in nature to address the issue of reducing school based violence Youth empowerment can be used as a helpful strategy to address the issue of school based violence This scholarly book focuses on using the framework of youth empowerment to address the issue of school based violence Through sound research the author proposes that schools should involve learners in decision making around school policies and design strategies to address school violence to create safer schools and a better school climate The author further posits using key aspects of youth empowerment in school violence campaigns and programmes to increase youth motivation to collectively influence changes within their school through a process of shared decision making collective vision and partnership with young people
