Clements, Julie Sarama, 2014-05-23 In this important book for pre and in service teachers early math experts Douglas Clements and Julie Sarama show how learning trajectories help diagnose a child s level of mathematical understanding and provide guidance for teaching By focusing on the inherent delight and curiosity behind young children s mathematical reasoning learning trajectories ultimately make teaching more joyous They help teachers understand the varying levels of knowledge exhibited by individual students which in turn allows them to better meet the learning needs of all children Using straightforward no nonsense language this book summarizes the current research about how children learn mathematics and how to build on what children already know to realize more effective teaching This second edition of Learning and Teaching Early Math remains the definitive research based resource to help teachers understand the learning trajectories of early mathematics and become quintessential professionals Updates to the new edition include Explicit connections between Learning

Trajectories and the new Common Core State Standards New coverage of patterns and patterning Incorporation of hundreds of recent research studies Handbook of Early Literacy Research Susan B. Neuman, David K. Dickinson, 2011-10-10 The field of early literacy has seen significant recent advances in theory research and practice These volumes bring together leading authorities to report on current findings integrate insights from different disciplinary perspectives and explore ways to provide children with the strongest possible literacy foundations in the first 6 years of life The Handbook first addresses broad questions about the nature of emergent literacy summarizing current knowledge on cognitive pathways biological underpinnings and the importance of cultural contexts Chapters in subsequent sections examine various strands of knowledge and skills that emerge as children become literate as well as the role played by experiences with peers and families Particular attention is devoted to the challenges involved in making schools work for all children including members of linguistic and ethnic minority groups and children living in poverty Finally approaches to instruction assessment and early intervention are described and up to date research on their effectiveness is presented
