Nijs,2016-01-26 In today s increasingly globalized environment many economic fundamentals need to be reconsidered in order to regain stability in the global marketplace One such consideration is the failing dynamics of the international tax infrastructure Neoliberalism 2 0 brings a 21st century assessment of the Pigovian taxes considering a completely new calibration of the international tax systems inspired by the historically developed Pigovian tax model The book considers the impact neoliberalism had and will have on regulatory infrastructure democracy in an era of globalization and reduced legitimization of the national state The Pigovian model brings home the often forgotten relationship between taxation as a part of the regulatory sphere macro economics and the political philosophical context in which law and economics emerge The model also takes into account the phenomena of globalization and financialization and is tested using the financial sector as an example This book addresses the many challenges a Pigovian shift would imply for the sovereign and its national economies Neoliberalism 2 0 demonstrates the ability to design a paradigm changing alternative to the current tax infrastructure while taking into account a low economic growth environment of the future the implications of globalization and the changing relationship between citizens and their state The End of Love Eva Illouz,2021-09-15 Western culture has endlessly represented the ways in which love miraculously erupts in people s lives the mythical moment in which one knows someone is destined for us the feverish waiting for a phone call or an email the thrill that runs down our spine at the mere thought of him or her Yet a culture that has so much to say about love is virtually silent on the no less mysterious moments when we avoid falling in love where we fall out of love when the one who kept us awake at night now leaves us indifferent or when we hurry away from those who excited us a few months or even a few hours before In The End of Love Eva Illouz documents the multifarious ways in which relationships end She argues that if modern love was once marked by the freedom to enter sexual and emotional bonds according to one's will and choice contemporary love has now become characterized by practices of non choice the freedom to withdraw from relationships Illouz dubs this process by which relationships fade evaporate dissolve and break down unloving While sociology has classically focused on the formation of social bonds The End of Love makes a powerful case for studying why and how social bonds collapse and dissolve Particularly striking is the role that capitalism plays in practices of non choice and unloving The unmaking of social bonds she argues is connected to contemporary capitalism which is characterized by practices of non commitment and non choice practices that enable the quick withdrawal from a transaction and the quick realignment of prices and the breaking of loyalties Unloving and non choice have in turn a profound impact on society and economics as they explain why people may be having fewer children increasingly living alone and having less sex The End of Love presents a profound and original analysis of the effects of capitalism and consumer culture on personal relationships and of what the dissolution of personal relationships means for capitalism
