Turchyn, Orit Sivan, Shuhei Ono, Tanja Bosak, 2018-11-16 Sulfur has many redox states and is a major metabolite in suboxic and anaerobic environments including but not restricted to marine and marginal marine sediments the water column of oxygen minimum zones salt marshes and oil wells Microbially mediated redox cycling of sulfur typically comprises dissimilatory sulfate reduction MSR sulfide reoxidation disproportionation and the oxidation and reduction of sulfur redox intermediates These processes contribute to the degradation of organic matter link the cycles of sulfur and carbon control the production and consumption of methane and are critical for the long term budget of O₂ in the atmosphere Microbial and abiotic processes at redox interfaces also connect the sulfur cycle to the redox cycles of nitrogen iron and other elements producing distinctive geochemical and molecular signatures Studies that couple microbiology with stable isotope geochemistry have informed interpretations of microbial sulfur cycling in modern and past environments Laboratory based studies and models of MSR have sought to understand the physiological and environmental controls of the magnitude of sulfur isotope fractionation The fractionations of stable sulfur and oxygen isotopes during MSR are also used to track enzymatic activity during MSR and processes that oxidize sulfide in the presence of environmental oxidants Outstanding questions in the field concern the importance of oxidative processes within the natural environment the delivery of oxidants and carbon sources to the zones of sulfate reduction and the ability to detect or reconstruct oxidative processes from the chemical isotopic metagenomic transcriptomic proteomic and metabolomics profiles in the environment Recent studies have emphasized the complex connections between sulfur and methane iron nitrogen and other elements These links may involve the redox cycling of species that occur at concentrations difficult to detect by standard geochemical techniques or that are cycled at very rapid rates cryptic cycles Of particular interest is the use of isotope geochemistry to quantify links among various electron acceptors including sulfate ferric iron and nitrate during the anaerobic methane oxidation For example recent geochemical measurements have hinted that microbial sulfate reduction coupled to organic matter oxidation is mechanistically different to when sulfate reduction is coupled to methane oxidation Recent studies have also suggested a possible contribution of a number of previously uncultured microbial groups in sulfur cycling in sulfidic environments inspiring further studies of these organisms and their partnerships in anaerobic environments This Research Topic highlights studies of microbial interactions processes and communities that couple the sulfur cycle to the cycles of other elements in aphotic environments

Organizations and Educational Institutes Osman Titrek, Anna Stavicka, Ana Campina, Gozde Sezen-Gultekin, Carlos Francisco

De Sousa Reis, 2023-11-28 Emotion management is an important source of social capital and synergy for organizations

Managers have a great role in the creation of this synergy A manager who can cope with their emotions indirectly contributes to organizational effectiveness This situation is especially important in human oriented organizations providing services rather than goods such as educational institutions Leadership is a process of social influence which maximizes the efforts of others towards the achievement of a goal Leadership stems from social influence rather than authority or power In terms of system approach the input output process and feedback of educational organizations are always related to human behaviors Therefore organizations must address the nature of human beings in all of their managerial processes Although organizations in which people are at the foreground try to continue their functioning on a rational and formal basis throughout the managerial process they sometimes have to manage emotional and informal phenomena In this case there is a need for managers and school leaders who can shape the rationale in line with the requirements of human nature What is expected from this administrator is that they do not ignore human needs and emotions while providing the management of educational institutions For this reason these managers should be leaders rather than executives who only work in a formal framework of organization management Moreover principals and teachers should also be leaders in all educational processes Emotions are the main catalyst of positive organizational culture Leaders can create an effective organizational culture with the main source of positive emotions between employers Positive emotions also motivate employees for organizational purposes If a leader wishes to create and maintain an effective organizational culture it is essential to support positive behavior and emotional climate in their institutes and schools Leaders school managers and teachers therefore need to develop emotion management abilities Educational organizations need to shape their organizational culture climate and psychology to support their leaders in efficiently managing their employees emotions Up to now this topic has been usually addressed as the main catalyst and a sub dimension of emotional intelligence Moreover current evidence classifies social and empathy skills as other sub dimensions of emotional intelligence For this reason this collection of peer reviewed articles will draw attention to the contemporary term emotional management and contribute to educational fields by means of exploring the relationship between emotions and leadership Social Capital and Well-being of Teachers and Principals: Social
