2014 November Exam Papereconomics Memo:

Environmental and Natural Resource Economics Jonathan M. Harris, Brian Roach, 2017-06-26 Environmental issues are of fundamental importance and a broad approach to understanding the relationship of the human economy and the natural world is essential. In a rapidly changing policy and scientific context, this new edition of Environmental and Natural Resource Economics reflects an updated perspective on modern environmental topics. Now in its fourth edition, this book includes new material on climate change, the cost competitiveness of renewable energy, global environmental trends, and sustainable economies. The text provides a balanced treatment of both standard environmental economics and ecological economics, based on the belief that these two approaches are complementary. Several chapters focus on the core concepts of environmental economics, including the theory of externalities, the management of public goods, the allocation of resources across time, environmental valuation, and cost-benefit analysis. Material on ecological economics includes such topics as macroeconomic scale, entropy, and green national accounting. Topical chapters focus on energy, climate change, water resources, international trade, forests, fisheries, and agriculture, with an emphasis on designing effective policies to promote sustainability and a green economy. Harris and Roach's premise is that a pluralistic approach is essential to understand the complex nexus between the economy and the environment. This perspective, combined with its emphasis on real-world policies, is particularly appealing to both instructors and students. This is the ideal text for classes on environmental, natural resource, and ecological economics. The book's companion website is available at http://www.bu.edu/eci/education/materials/textbooks/environmental_and_natural_resource_economics.

Rediscovering Economic Policy as a Discipline Nicola Acocella, 2018-07-26 A leading expert on economic policy makes the convincing case for the foundation, coordination, and reach of government action through economic policy. Presenting justifications for government intervention in coping with market failures, Acocella applies the theory of economic policy to current global issues.

Better Lives Julie Fry, Peter Wilson, 2018-04-09 Better Lives provides a comprehensive overview of immigration in New Zealand, showing how immigration is not just an economic imperative that needs to be managed but an opportunity to enhance people's lives. This book shifts the immigration debate in Aotearoa in exactly the right direction.

Challenges to European Welfare Systems Klaus Schubert, Paloma de Villota, Johanna Kuhlmann, 2016-02-08 This book provides the first comprehensive analyses of the challenges all European welfare systems have been facing since 2007, combining in-depth country-based studies and comparative chapters. It focuses on 1) the economic and financial crisis, 2) demographic change, and 3) the balance between avoiding risks and opening up opportunities in social policy. The results show that European welfare systems tend to face the same challenges in different ways and that also their responses to those challenges differ considerably. Although the EU also plays a part in shaping national welfare systems, it becomes evident that European welfare systems are by no means converging in terms of social policy. National diversity within Europe is still a major factor that will shape future developments in European welfare systems Advances in Empirical Economic Research Nicholas Tsounis, Aspasia Vlachvei, 2023-07-19 This volume presents new empirical methods and applications in economics with special interest in advances in empirical macroeconomics microeconomics financial economics international economics and agricultural economics Featuring selected contributions from the 2022 International Conference of Applied Economics ICOAE 2021 this book provides country specific studies with potential applications in economic policy It is beneficial to researchers scholars academics and policy makers in quantitative economic research in both methods and applications Regional Institutions, Geopolitics and Economics in the Asia-Pacific Steven B. and stronger supervisory tools to prevent dangerous real estate asset bubbles Economic Governance in Europe Federico Fabbrini, 2016-01-28 The Euro Crisis and the legal and institutional responses to it have had important constitutional implications on the architecture of the European Union EU Going beyond the existing literature Federico Fabbrini's book takes a broad look and examines how the crisis and its aftermath have changed relations of power in the EU disaggregating three different dimensions 1 the vertical relations of power between the member states and the EU institutions 2 the relations of power between the political branches and the courts and 3 the horizontal relations of power between the EU member states themselves The first part of the book argues that in the aftermath of the Euro crisis power has been shifting along each of these axes in paradoxical ways In particular through a comparison of the United States Fabbrini reveals that the EU is nowadays characterized by a high degree of centralization in budgetary affairs an unprecedented level of judicialization of economic questions and a growing imbalance between the member states in the governance of fiscal matters As the book makes clear however each of these dynamics is a cause for concern as it calls into question important constitutional values for the EU such as the autonomy of the member states in taking decision about taxing and spending the preeminence of the political process in settling economic matters and the balance between state power and state equality The second part of the book therefore devises possible options for future legal and institutional developments in the EU which may revert these paradoxical trends In particular Fabbrini considers the ideas of raising a fiscal capacity restoring the centrality of the EU legislative process and reforming the EU executive power and discusses the challenges that accompany any further step towards a deeper Economic and Monetary Union In Deep Water Michael Brennan, 2019-09-13 Irish Water was set up in 2013 to introduce the most ambitious water metering programme in the world The plan was to get Irish people to finally pay to upgrade a nineteenth century water system The water metering programme began in August 2013 and was carried out at breakneck speed However it did not go to plan and the issue of water charges divided Ireland There were nationwide demonstrations and confrontations in housing estates involving water meter contractors garda and water charge protesters The programme ended in political disaster with a humiliated government having to send out one million refunds With access to unpublished documents and interviews with the key personalities on both sides In Deep Water provides a blow by blow account of how it all went wrong The rows at cabinet The warnings that went unheeded The water women The smartphone wielding protesters And the minister who threatened to reduce people's water to a trickle Compulsively readable and fast paced In Deep Water gives an inside view of the controversy that divided Ireland Forest and land-use governance in a decentralized Indonesia: A legal and policy review Fitriani Ardiansyah, Andri Akbar Marthen, Nur Amalia, 2015-10-02 Which levels of government hold powers over forests and land use in Indonesia Which powers and responsibilities are centralized and which are decentralized What role can citizens play This report reviews the statutory distribution of powers and responsibilities across levels and sectors It outlines the legal mandates held by national regional and local governments with regard to land and forests including titling forest concessions oil and minerals investments oil palm plantations conservation land use planning and more The review considers national legislation as of 2014 and incorporates important reforms in early 2015 After a short introduction the second section describes the decentralization process including mechanisms for public participation The third section outlines sources of revenue available to different government levels from forest fees and payments for environmental services The fourth section details the specific distribution of powers and arenas of responsibility related to multiple land use sectors across levels and among offices within levels and the fifth and final section refers specifically to adat law Summary tables are included for each different policy arena to facilitate analysis across government levels and functions policy making administration control and monitoring auditing and sanction

Global Technology and Legal Theory Guilherme Cintra Guimarães, 2019-06-05 The rise and spread of the Internet has accelerated the global flows of money technology and information that are increasingly perceived as a challenge to the traditional regulatory powers of nation states and the effectiveness of their constitutions The acceleration of these flows poses new legal and political problems to their regulation and control as shown by recent conflicts between Google and the European Union EU This book investigates the transnational constitutional dimension of recent conflicts between Google and the EU in the areas of competition taxation and human rights More than a simple case study it explores how the new conflicts originating from the worldwide expansion of the Internet economy are being dealt with by the institutional mechanisms available at the European level The analysis of these conflicts exposes the tensions and contradictions between on the one hand legal and political systems that are limited by territory and on the other hand the inherently global functioning of the Internet The EU's promising initiatives to extend the protection of privacy in cyberspace set the stage for a broader dialogue on constitutional problems related to the enforcement of fundamental rights and the legitimate exercise of power that are common to different legal orders of world society Nevertheless the different ways of dealing with the competition and fiscal aspects of the conflicts with Google also indicate the same limits that are generally attributed to the very project of European integration showing that the constitutionalization of the economy tends to outpace the constitutionalization of politics Providing a detailed account of the unfolding of these conflicts and their wider consequences to the future of the Internet this book will appeal to scholars working in EU law international law and constitutional law as well as those in the fields of political science and sociology

Financial Stability and Prudential Regulation Alison Lui, 2016-10-04 Financial stability is one of the key tenets of a central bank's functions Since the financial crisis of 2007-2009 an area of hot debate is the extent to which the central bank should be involved with prudential regulation This book examines the macro and micro prudential regulatory frameworks and systems of the United Kingdom Australia the United States Canada and Germany Drawing on the regulator frameworks of these regions this book examines the central banks roles of crisis management resolution and prudential regulation Alison Lui compares the institutional structure of the new twin peaks model in the UK to the Australian model and the multi regulatory US model and the single regulatory Canadian model The book also discusses the extent the central bank in these countries as well as the ECB are involved with financial stability and argues that the institutional architecture and geographical closeness of the Bank of England and Financial Policy Committee give rise to the fear that the UK central bank may become another single super regulator which may provide the Bank of England with too much power As a multi regional comparative study on the importance and effectiveness of prudential regulation this book will be of great use and interest to students and researchers in finance and bank law economics and banking

Green, Closed Loop, Circular Bio-Economy Charisios

Achillas,Dionysis Bochtis,2021-03-04 In recent years bioeconomy strategies have been implemented and adapted internationally In the bioeconomy materials are to a certain extent circular by nature However biomaterials may also be used in a rather linear way Lately a transition towards a circular economy a more restorative and regenerative economic model is being promoted worldwide A circular economy offers an alternative model aiming at doing more and better with less It is based on the idea that circulating matter and energy will diminish the need for new input Its concept lies in maintaining the value of products materials and resources for as long as possible and at the same time minimizing or even eliminating the amount of waste produced Focused on closing the loops a circular economy is a practical solution for promoting entrepreneurial sustainability economic growth environmental resilience and a better quality of life for all The most efficient way to close resource loops is to find value in the waste Different modes of resource circulation may be applied e g raw materials by products human resources logistics services waste energy or water To that end this Special Issue seeks to contribute to the circular bioeconomy agenda through enhanced scientific and multidisciplinary knowledge to boost the performance efficiency of circular business models and support decision making within the specific field The Special Issue includes innovative technical developments reviews and case studies all of which are relevant to green closed loop circular bioeconomy
