The Crisis and Renewal of U.S. Capitalism Laurence

Cossu-Beaumont, Jacques-Henri Coste, Jean-Baptiste Velut, 2015-12-22 Despite the reversal of America's fortune from the triumphalism of the Roaring Nineties to the gloom of the lost decade and the Great Depression theoretical conceptions of US capitalism have remained surprisingly unchanged In fact if the crisis questioned the sustainability of the US capitalist paradigm it did not fundamentally challenge academic theorization of American political economy This book departs from the American political economy literature to identify three common myths that have shaped our conceptualization of US capitalism its reduction to a state market dyad dis embedded from societal factors the illusion of a weak state and the synchronic conception of the US variety of capitalism To remedy these pitfalls the authors propose a civilizational approach to American political economy at the crossroads between cultural studies history sociology and political science Drawing together contributions from a rich variety of fields from geography to cultural studies political science and sociology this work sheds a new light on America's cultural political economy combining theoretical reflection with empirical data and offering innovative perspectives on the crisis and renewal of American capitalism

Provincial Battles, National Prize? Laura B. Stephenson, Andrea Lawlor, William P. Cross, André Blais, Elisabeth Gidengil, 2019-10-03 In parliamentary systems like Canada voters directly contribute to the election outcome only in their own riding However the focus of election campaigns is often national emphasizing the leader rather than the local candidate and national rather than regional polls This suggests that elections are national contests but election outcomes clearly demonstrate that support for parties varies strongly by province Focusing on the 2015 Canadian election campaigns in British Columbia Ontario and Quebec three large provinces with different subnational party systems Provincial Battles National Prize evaluates whether we should understand elections in Canada as national wars or individual provincial clashes The authors draw upon voter and candidate surveys party campaign behaviour and media coverage of the election to document how political parties vary their messages and strategies across provinces how the media communicate and frame those messages and how voters ultimately respond The study shows that provincial variations in party support reflect differences in voters political preferences rather than differences in party messages or media coverage A novel and comprehensive study Provincial Battles National Prize is the first and only thorough treatment of the party media and voter aspects of a federal election campaign through a subnational lens
