Allah Atil Sa Place Dans Lentreprise:

La Prise en compte du fait religieux par les organisations: vers l'émergence de nouvelles pratiques managériales Abdelmourhit Bennani, 2015-04-09 Il s'agira ici non pas d'étudier la religion en tant que telle mais plutôt d'étudier travers des cas concrets l'exercice par le salarié de sa liberté religieuse dans l'entreprise Il convient préalablement de préciser que si la religion peut être entendue comme un ensemble de croyances et de dogmes définissant le rapport de l'homme avec le sacré la liberté religieuse peut se définir comme la liberté de croire en une réalité transcendante et la liberté de pratiquer sa foi La liberté religieuse revêt ainsi deux aspects distincts mais complémentaires La liberté religieuse implique une liberté de conscience constituant cet aspect une variante des libertés d'expression et d'opinion ainsi qu'une liberté de culte L'association de ces deux concepts travail et religion cesse alors de surprendre de surcroît dans un État où la liberté ne signifie pas indifférence mais est le symbole d'un État qui protège et garantit le respect des croyances de chacun La non confessionnalité de l'État français n'empêche pas en effet celui-ci de proclamer et d'assurer le respect de la liberté religieuse Discrimination et la liberté galit et identité droit mais encore évolution du management autant de concepts que recouvre le thème du fait religieux dans le cadre de l'entreprise Et autant d'enjeux que souligne le travail flexible et d'enquête d'A. Bennani qui se confronte un sujet d'actualité c'est dire sensible cause de crispations et parfois brûlante Interrogeant plus spécifiquement le cas de l'islam cette étude pionnière de passionné avec tact les débats stériles pour mieux se focaliser sur les solutions et négociations que peuvent trouver salariés et sociétés

Why Muslim Integration Fails in Christian-Heritage Societies Claire L. Adida, David D. Laitin, Marie-Anne Valfort, 2016 Amid mounting fears of violent Islamic extremism many Europeans ask whether Muslim immigrants can integrate into historically Christian countries In a groundbreaking ethnographic investigation of France's Muslim migrant population Why Muslim Integration Fails in Christian Heritage Societies explores this complex question The authors conclude that both Muslim and non Muslim French must share responsibility for the slow progress of Muslim integration Using a variety of resources research methods and an innovative experimental design the authors contend that while there is no doubt that prejudice and discrimination against Muslims exist it is also true that some Muslim actions and cultural traits may at times complicate their full integration into their chosen domiciles This book is timely more so in the context of the current Syrian refugee crisis its insights keen and astute the empirical evidence meticulous and persuasive and the policy recommendations reasonable and relevant A. Intercultural Competences in Social Services Council of Europe. Directorate General III--Social Cohesion, European Commission. Directorate-General for Employment, Social Affairs and Inclusion, 2011-01-01 If we are to build an inclusive institutional culture within the increasingly pluralist societies of 21st century Europe focusing solely on the development of skills and knowledge is not enough There have to be changes in the way in which administrative authorities and the organisations providing services to the public view their role and in the action they take While it is essential for migrants to learn the language of their host country understanding the codes of conduct standards allegiances rules and exceptions is perhaps an even greater challenge This clearer understanding of the institutional fabric is an inevitable part of what is termed integration and also applies to minorities Since this process does not occur unassisted this guide puts forward a number of proposals to help acquire the institutional skills which are vital for understanding dialogue guidance negotiation and conflict resolution to name but a few These are all aspects inherent in interaction processes and essential for respecting diversity This guide is an indispensable tool for public and private operators social workers mediators and all other stakeholders aware of the need to incorporate these aspects into their exchanges particularly when rights and human dignity are at stake This will help nurture confidence in public institutions and avoid the development of fear or any other barrier which could lead to unequal access or indeed no access to social health care or other services Through this work the Council of Europe reminds us that in pluralist societies the most effective guarantee of successful integration and harmonious co existence is social justice Allah a-t-il sa place dans l'entreprise

Post-beur Cinema: North African Emigre and Maghrebi-French Filmmaking in France since 2000 Will

Higbee, 2013-07-31 Since the early 1980s filmmakers of Maghrebi origin have made a key contribution to the representation of issues such as immigration integration and national identity in French cinema However they have done so mostly from a position on the margins of the industry In contrast since the early 2000s Maghrebi French and North African emigre filmmakers have occupied an increasingly prominent position in on both sides of the camera announcing their presence on French screens in a wider range of genres and styles than ever before This greater prominence and move to the mainstream has not automatically meant that these films have lost any of the social or political relevance of Beur cinema of the 1980s or the banlieue film of the 1990s Indeed in the 2000s these films have increasingly questioned the boundaries between national transnational and diasporic cinema whilst simultaneously demanding either implicitly or explicitly a reconsideration of the very difference that has traditionally been seen as a barrier to the successful integration of North African immigrants and their descendants into French society Through a detailed study of this transformative decade for Maghrebi French and North African emigre filmmaking in France this book argues for the emergence of a Post Beur cinema in the 2000s that is simultaneously global and local in its outlook An absorbing introduction to this key development in contemporary French cinema Post Beur Cinema is essential reading for students and scholars in Film Studies French Studies and Diaspora Studies
