Parliament. House of Commons. Education Committee, 2013 The Government's plans for replacing GCSEs with new English Baccalaureate Certificates in some subjects is trying to do too much too fast Introducing several fundamental changes at the same time and to a tight timetable will jeopardise the quality of the reforms and may threaten the stability of the wider exam system GCSEs need significant improvements in order to restore public confidence in the exam system but the Government still needs to make the case that the GCSE brand is so discredited that it is beyond repair MPs are also concerned about the impact of the changes on subjects outside the English Baccalaureate where students will be taking GCSEs for some time to come according to the Government's plans The report also questions how well the Government's proposals will serve lower attaining pupils who are often the most disadvantaged There is no evidence that the proposed changes will help to tackle under achievement or narrow the attainment gap between the richest and poorest students any more effectively than GCSEs The Government is also called upon to re think its plans for a Statement of Achievement specifically for lower attaining pupils MPs agree that changes are needed to the way in which exams are run but they raise serious concerns about franchising subjects to exam boards The report is critical of the Government's decision to abolish some GCSEs before publishing the outcomes of the National Curriculum Review and its proposed changes to the school accountability system MPs also note the wide ranging stakeholder opposition to many of the Government's proposals

Prestressed Members with External Fiber-Reinforced Polymer (FRP) Tendons Tiejiong Lou, Yanan Wu, Sergio M.R. Lopes, 2025-02-03 Prestressed Members with External Fiber Reinforced Polymer FRP Tendons Design Assessment and Modelling provides an overview of using FRPs including how to predict the short term and long term behavior of externally prestressed concrete or steel concrete composite members their second order effects and how to examine the effectiveness of using FRP tendons instead of steel tendons for external prestressing As external prestressing is considered to be one of the most powerful techniques in strengthening of existing structures this book provides a comprehensive resource on the topics covered The conventional use of prestressing steel is however naturally prone to corrosion The best strategy to solve completely the corrosion problem is the use of nonmetal materials instead of prestressing steel Fiber reinforced polymer FRP composites are ideal materials used for external tendons for their excellent corrosion resistance high strength and low weight Covers the use of FRP tendons when compared to those with external steel tendons including key design issues Addresses important topics in the field including the second order effects of immediate and sustained loads Examines the
