

After 100 years, the Bauhaus is still alive. The school's influence is still felt in the world of design, architecture, and art. The Bauhaus was a German school of art, architecture, and design that was founded in 1919 by Walter Gropius. It was a place where artists, architects, and designers came together to create a new style of design that was both functional and beautiful. The Bauhaus was a place where the boundaries between art and design were blurred, and where the focus was on creating a new way of life.
