American Education Twelfth Edition By Joel Spring:

Visions of Schooling Rosemary C. Salomone, 2008-10-01 DIV At no time in the past century have there been fiercer battles over our public schools than there are now. Parents and educational reformers are challenging not only the mission, content, and structure of mass compulsory schooling but also its underlying premise that the values promoted through public education are neutral and therefore acceptable to any reasonable person. In this important book, Rosemary Salomone sets aside the ideological and inflammatory rhetoric that surrounds today's debates over educational values and family choice. She offers instead a fair-minded examination of education for democratic citizenship in a society that values freedom of conscience and religious pluralism. And she proposes a balanced course of action that redefines but does not sever the relationship between education and the state. Salomone demonstrates how contemporary conflicts are the product of past educational and social movements. She lays bare some of the myths that support the current government monopoly over education and reveals how it privileges those of economic means. Through a detailed case study of recent controversy in a suburban New York school district, the author explores the legal and policy issues that arise when widely disparate world views stand in the way of political compromise on educational materials, techniques, and programs. Salomone builds a case for educational governance that places the developmental needs of the child at the center of family autonomy. She advances a plan that respects diverse values and visions of schooling while preserving the core commitments that bind our nation.

American Education Wayne J. Urban, Jennings L. Wagoner, Jr., 2013-08-15. American Education: A History 5e is a comprehensive, highly regarded history of American education from pre-colonial times to the present. Chronologically organized, it provides an objective overview of each major period in the development of American education, setting the discussion against the broader backdrop of national and world events. The first text to explore Native American traditions, including education prior to colonization, it also offers strong, ongoing coverage of minorities and women. New to this much anticipated fifth edition is substantial expanded attention to the discussions of Native American education to reflect recent scholarship, the discussion of teachers and teacher leaders, and the educational developments and controversies of the 21st century. The Foundations of Contemporary American Education Erwin V. Johanningsmeier, 1987.

Going Home to School Llewellyn B. Davis, B. Davis Llewellyn, 1991-03. This is a discussion of home schooling from the Christian perspective. Family Choice in Schooling Michael E.

Manley-Casimir, 1982. A Legacy of Learning David T. Kearns, James Harvey, 2000-03. What's wrong with America's schools? Why can't we fix them? How did we wind up with dropout rates of 25 percent and graduates who can barely read and write Why does the United States spend twice as much on education as the international average and wind up near the bottom of the barrel in global comparisons of student achievement Why do we lag behind nations such as South Korea Hungary and Singapore And how should we go about improving the situation Answers to these questions lie at the heart of this volume David T Kearns and James Harvey contend we are fine tuning failure We have yet to break with the past in order to face a different and challenging future Despite worshipping at the altar of local control we have managed to create cookie cutter schools across the country We have been sidestepping the transparent need for common expectations about what students should know and be able to do Standards the authors say are not clear enough or high enough Above all we have met the enemy and it is us all of us support change as long as someone else is changing This book is a fascinating and provocative analysis of where we went wrong and what we need to do to get American education back on track It defines the kind of education our kids deserve It calls for a new definition of public education in which choice is taken for granted And it outlines an action agenda to help parents and citizens make first class schools truly their own In the future the authors argue we should think of a public school as any other non profit entity capable of operating in the public interest free of the red tape now strangling public education It should be paid for by the public and accountable to the public with its charter or contract routinely revoked when it stops serving public purposes or fails to meet its performance goals An Imperfect Past Canadian History of Education Association, University of British Columbia.
