the theoretical framework is to inspire and guide empirical research into how elected politicians perform political leadership in a society where citizens and other stakeholders play an active role in making and implementing political decisions and what barriers challenges and dilemmas they encounter in relation to the performance of interactive political leadership The research framework draws extensively on recent theories of interactive governance and political leadership and other new developments in political science and public administration research Moreover it finds inspiration in current tendencies and embryonic examples of interactive political leadership performed by elected politicians operating at different levels of governance in Western liberal democracies The basic assumption is that political legitimacy is essential for the survival of a political system and that interactive political leadership stands out as a promising way of securing what political scientists denote as input throughput output and outcome legitimacy in the age of governance Hence interactive political leadership aims to establish a bridge between representative democracy and emergent forms of political participation to promote political learning and accountability to strengthen the political entrepreneurship of elected politicians and to advance the political system's implementation capacity through resource mobilization The book develops 20 propositions that sets the agenda for a new and much needed field of empirical research into political leadership in the age of governance
