

AMERICAN AIRLINES ELECTRONIC RESERVATIONS PROCESSING SYSTEM

How push-buttons-to-computers speed air travel reservations...

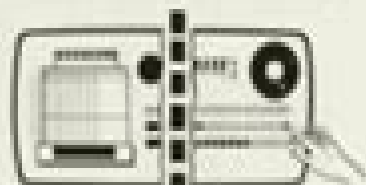

1. Passenger requests a seat on an airline by telephone or in person from any of the 1,000 American Airlines agent offices serving 50 states.

2. Agent finds out which seats are available on all flights for the desired day by pressing buttons that send an electronic message.

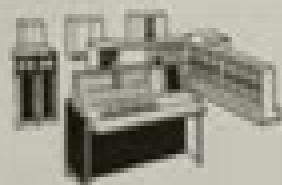

3. ... which is then sent by electronic message to the Computing Center in New York where it sends requests directly to the banks already connected with all airlines.

4. Seat availability is instant and is agent from Computing Center. Customer has complete and up-to-date reservation status from all seats open on all flights for destination and day desired.

5. Passenger selects most suitable flight by "touch" type action "off" button.

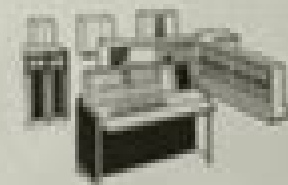

6. ... and then instructs the Computing Center to retransmit.

7. Computer instantly sets up automatically printing out an agent's printed list of results - flight number, date, number of passengers, fare, class, and departure and arrival times.

8. Agent is told through additional information to computer's memory - flying on her private line from the passenger's home, telephone number and any other information such as car rental or porter party destination, etc.

9. Computer automatically checks and confirms the reservation with the computer, and shows it is ready to go as part of the passenger's flight with seat price, change or refund.

Central Processing Unit

In addition to handling the passenger's reservation, the new SAB system also:

Answers requests for space from other airlines.

Advises agents to record passengers to pick up tickets.

Monitors and processes passengers making bids for substituted flights.

Supplies fare quotations.

Supplies information on arrival and departure times.

Reminds agents to advise scheduled passengers of any flight changes.
